

Peace Hinges on Arms Control, Kennedy Says

No Guarantee Without It, He Declares in Message to Adenauer

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP) — President-Elect Kennedy, answering a message from Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, told the German leader today that "the achievement of controlled disarmament is a necessity to guarantee world peace."

Kennedy also received a hand-delivered message from British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Adenauer's telegram expressed the hope that "you and statesmen of like mind will soon find a way to open a path for controlled disarmament."

The telegram reached Kennedy yesterday.

Adenauer said:

"I want to send you my hearty greetings on the occasion of your election to the Presidency of the United States. The trust of the American people has summoned you not only to the highest office of your land but also to the most important and responsible position in the gift of free people. . . . Kennedy replied:

"I am grateful for your warm and generous message. You have been an indomitable leader of the free world and I look forward to working with you in the years ahead, and certainly agree with you that the achievement of controlled disarmament is necessary to guarantee world peace."

The message from Macmillan was delivered personally by D-Arce Edmondson, British consul general in Boston.

The prime minister wrote:

"I send you with this short message all my good wishes and those of the British government and people. You have been elected to be President of the United States. Since my mother was American, I know what that has always meant to all your citizens but today it means that you will be taking the most powerful position in the world with responsibility matched by equal opportunity. I look forward to working in the causes which the people of this country and the United States both hold so dear. Sincerely, (signed) Harold Macmillan."

Kennedy's Reply Kennedy replied by telegram. He messaged:

"I thank you for your warm personal message. I formed a warm affection for the British people when my father was ambassador to the Court of St. James and it has continued to this day. I know that our two great countries will work together in the future as they have in the past to further the cause of freedom throughout the world. Sincerely yours, John F. Kennedy."

Kennedy's newly appointed press secretary, Pierre Salinger, said that he also spent several hours this morning telephoning friends around the country.

Salinger said the president-elect has received 13,000 congratulatory telegrams in the past 24 hours.

They included messages from President Charles de Gaulle of France, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of Germany, Macmillan, Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev of the Soviet Union, Prime Minister David Ben Gurion of Israel, Pope John XXIII, Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia, Prime Minister Robert D. Menzies of Australia, Prime Minister John Diefenbaker of Canada, Governor Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico and Prince Ranier of Monaco.

Kennedy was to take three of his top assistants with him to

Diem Ousted in Viet Nam; Troops Take Laos Garrison

Both Military Actions are Attributed to Rightists

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Troops struck political blows today in two free nations of Southeast Asia — South Viet Nam and Laos.

A brief but bloody military coup in Saigon overthrew Ngo Dinh Diem, the pro-western president of South Viet Nam. The victors said their aim was to end Diem family rule and strengthen defense against Communist infiltration.

In neighboring Laos, the American-supported kingdom which turned neutralist last August, rightist rebels were reported to have gained support of the garrison of the royal capital, Luang Prabang.

A radio broadcast from Luang Prabang said the garrison, an infantry battalion, rallied to the revolutionary committee of Savannakhet. This is the rightist, pro-western.

Both sides of the divided army wear uniforms and equipment supplied by the United States.

A third force in the Laotian war is the pro-Communist Pathet Lao. The neutralist premier, Prince Souvanna Phouma, is a half-brother of the Pathet Lao's fugitive leader, Prince Souvanna Vong.

Sports Car Passenger, Embarrass Driver Hike State Road Toll

Pictures on Page B-1 and B-12.

A passenger in a sports car that crashed near Neenah and a driver of a car that overturned near Embarrass died of injuries this morning to raise the state highway toll for the year to 747, compared with 701 on that date a year ago.

An American sports car driven by David W. Spomer, 24, 1525 Harrison St., Oshkosh, crashed on County Trunk A four miles south of Neenah about 1:45 a. m.

Roger Beans, 26, 109 E. Bent Ave., Oshkosh, the passenger, wearing a safety belt, was pronounced dead on arrival at Theda Clark Hospital, Neenah. Spomer, not wearing a safety belt, fell out of the car and is in "fair" condition at Theda Clark.

Martin Stabnow, 44, Embarrass, was alone in his car when it went out of control about 9:40 p. m. Thursday on County Trunk Y, just south of the Waupaca-Shawano county line northeast of Embarrass. The car crashed into a concrete bridge abutment and landed on its top 200 feet away. The car's engine was ripped from its mountings.

Died of Injuries Stabnow was taken to Clintonville Community Hospital where he died at 5:20 a. m. today.

Ervin Kasdorf, 58, Milwaukee, died in a hospital this morning a short while after he was struck by a car while crossing a street on the way to work.

Winnebago County police said parts of the Spomer sports car were scattered along the highway.

According to Friedman, the newsmen may see a real revolution in labor, one that may eventually change the makeup of the labor force on assembly lines around the industrial world.

Fudgie, Pudgie and Bobby are three chimpanzees, and Friedman says they are going to work today in his furniture factory here.

The three chimps were trained for the job by Manuel King, a Houston animal trainer who says that vocational aptitude tests given to the chimpanzees show that they are "ideally suited for assembly line work."

According to the overjoyed Friedman, the trio of jungle-type workers "will seal cushions, put them in place on chairs, attach chair legs, and put the finished chairs in containers, put filler material in the containers, and then close the boxes for shipment."

Human Foremen

"If these chimps do good work," said Friedman yesterday, he plans to establish an entire assembly line of chimp workers. He said he would need 23 chimpanzees to manage his assembly line with two ordinary human beings as foremen.

"All they have to do is the same thing over and over," Friedman said. Tests have proved that chimps are easily trained for routine jobs and can replace a man on an assembly line position.

There are 30 to 40 jobs in our factory that we can teach a chimp to do repeatedly."

Friedman said the chimps will be given long breaks, probably as long as 30 minutes out of every hour until accustomed to a new job. "Later," he added, "this will be cut to 15-minute breaks in every hour."

County Tax Levy Lowered $1,500

$150,000 Dip Into Contingency Fund Offsets Budget Increases

BY JACK GLASNER Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Outagamie County will levy a tax about $1,500 less than this year.

The total county budget is up some $140,000, but a $150,000 dip into the $340,000 contingency fund more than offsets any increases. The board in four days of deliberations on the 1961 budget raised the tax levy at one point by nearly $52,000. Today supervisors decided they wish to present the same or a lower tax levy to member municipalities within the county.

The total county budget for 1961 is $3,120,217. The tax levy is $1,486.212 — $1,477 less than the 1960 levy.

Saginaw Bridge Damaged When Hit by Freight

BAY CITY (AP)—A West German freighter, the 442-foot Betei-geuze, struck and heavily damaged a bridge, at Saginaw and went aground in the Saginaw River here Thursday in barely missing another bridge.

The freighter, which loaded 3,500 tons of scrap iron for Italy and beans for England at Saginaw, is under charter to Crescent Lines of New York City. It is skippered by Capt. Theodor Peterson.

The ship was under tow in the bridge-smashing and near-smashing. It apparently got out of control of its tug each time.

A spokesman for Garavaglia Construction Co. of Warren, Mich., said opening of Saginaw's new Zilwaukee Bridge may have to be postponed for six months beyond its scheduled opening Dec. 5 because of damage.

Wealthy Oilman Pays City Not to Levy Tax On Utilities for Year

NAPLES, Fla. (AP) — Wealthy Oilman Lester Norris dislikes taxes so much that he is donating $70,000 to the city of Naples on a promise that a proposed new utility tax will not be enacted before 1962.

The city was considering the tax to rebuild a fishing pier washed away by hurricane Donna. Although his own tax under the new assessment would be negligible, Norris volunteered to give the $70,000 estimated cost if the tax were shelved for a year.

The deal was closed between Norris and councilmen and the money made available—but it was by "gentlemen's agreement."

Norris, retired chairman of the board of the Texaco Co., and still a major stockholder in the oil company, enjoys few city benefits such as fire and police protection and garbage removal — although within the city limits, he lives on an island fronting on the open Gulf of Mexico and separated from Naples proper by a deep pass.

The tax would have been 10 per cent on customers' bills for telephone, electric and bottled gas service.

GOP Leaders Seek Recount In 11 States

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Republican National Committee today asked party officials in 11 states to start legal action that might lead to a recount of votes in the presidential election.

The committee said it was acting on the basis of thousands of complaints of frauds in the balloting in states that gave Sen. John F. Kennedy a narrow victory over Vice President Richard M. Nixon on the basis of unofficial returns.

A committee aide said Nixon and Committee Chairman Thurston B. Morton conferred at length this morning before deciding to act on the complaints.

Telegrams were sent to state and county GOP chairmen in Delaware, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nevada, New Mexico, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, South Carolina and Texas.

Word of the 11-state move came out after Morton himself had told a reporter about it in less detail. The GOP chairman put his stress on Illinois and Texas.

Morton said state chairmen had been asked to make a recheck because he believes there is "a chance for human error in such an election."

Recheck in Illinois

Outcome in 3 States Still in Doubt but Kennedy Election Isn't

WASHINGTON (AP) — The election was so close that there was still doubt today which presidential candidate won in three states — California, Alaska and Hawaii.

Furthermore, Illinois Republicans were hanging to hope that a recheck of unofficial tallies would give their state to the GOP.

With nearly 67 million votes counted, Democrat John F. Kennedy had a popular vote margin of less than 300,000 over Republican Richard M. Nixon.

Urges Recheck With the outcome in many states turning on small margins, Republican National Chairman Thurston B. Morton asked GOP state leaders to recheck the voting in their states.

Morton told newsmen he was not challenging the election of Sen. Kennedy by this action but asked the recheck because he believes there is "a chance for human error in such an election."

It seemed highly improbable that any developments from official counts or rechecks could upset the Kennedy victory shown by unofficial tallies.

With 269 electoral votes needed to win, Kennedy had 300 regardless of where California might eventually wind up. Nixon was leading in Alaska and Hawaii. Even the loss of Illinois, if that should happen, would leave Ken-neddy with a winning margin. The state has 27 electoral votes.

Counting California in the Kennedy camp on inconclusive returns, he led in 23 states with 332 electoral votes; Nixon in 26 states with 191.

Here is how the popular vote stood on returns from 164,230 of 166,078 voting units: Kennedy 33,591,799 (50.2 per cent).

Nixon 33,307,866 (49.8 per cent).

Delay in California California's outcome is not expected to be settled finally before Tuesday of next week. There are more than 220,000 absentee ballots to be counted.

Kennedy had a margin of 37,140 votes out of 6,205,383 counted.

In Hawaii, Nixon was ahead by 91 votes by unofficial tallies. Whether he won the state won't be known for sure until next week and a double-checking of tallies.

Nixon also had a slim edge in

GOP Asks Check of Voting Irregularity

Spokesman Notes Complaints Alleging Fraud, Buying in Texas, Illinois, Michigan and Elsewhere

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton has asked state and county GOP chairmen to investigate charges of voting irregularities, particularly in Texas, the Carolinas, Illinois, Michigan and New Jersey.

A spokesman for the Republican National Committee said yesterday it had received many complaints alleging fraud, vote buying and other irregularities.

The spokesman said Morton had asked local officials to determine the facts and advise him and the justice department if they found a substantial basis for the complaints.

The New York Herald Tribune said today that allegations of election irregularities in several states caused Republican leaders yesterday to check all returns—and wonder if their concession of

2,500 Foreign Medics in U. S. Disqualified

Fail to Pass Tests On Qualifications by American Standards

CHICAGO (AP) — Nearly 2,500 foreign trained physicians working as staff members, residents or interns in American hospitals have been given their walking papers. They failed to pass recent examinations testing their qualifications by American standards.

Many of them in America on student visas issued under the exchange program face return to their home countries. Others, with permanent immigrant visas, will be required to leave the hospitals or take lesser non-clinical positions. Some may be kept on an emergency basis in certain hospitals where their sudden removal would pose a hardship problem.

Dr. Dean Smiley, executive director of the Educational Council for Foreign Medical Graduates, said in an interview today that the examinations were given to 8,713. A total of 3,776 passed with scores of 75 or better. A second group of 2,456 scored from 70 to 75 and were given a two-year extension. They must pass with a higher mark to stay on after that.

Written Tests
The 2,481 failures, Dr. Smiley said, are employed in hospitals in various parts of the nation. A system for weeding out physicians not qualified to perform clinical duties in hospitals was set

$320,000 to Be Paid for Blast Losses

MADISON (AP) — Out-of-court settlements involving $320,000 have been reached in suits arising from gas explosions and fires which wiped out most of a Madison business-residential block and killed two persons Jan. 5, 1958.

The exact amounts of payments to 49 plaintiffs by three defendants were not made public immediately. The settlements were agreed on at a pre-trial conference before Circuit Judge Edwin Wilkie, attorneys in the case said today. The cases had been scheduled to go to trial within two weeks.

Defendants included the Madison Gas and Electric Co., and New York and Pittsburgh firms which installed pressure and other equipment carrying gas from the supplying firm to customers.

Suits brought against the three firms asked $556,608 damages. Plaintiffs included survivors of the persons killed and owners of business and residential property in the area of the blast and fires that followed.

Coroner Tells Story Of Mistaken Identity

Sentimental Action by Friend Gives Hope to One Family, Despair to Another

NEW YORK (AP) — How did the body of the "wrong" airline stewardess get into a coffin scheduled for burial in the Bronx?

Miss Frost

Who, then, was the unconscious girl in a California hospital?

A tragic case of mistaken identity, a coroner explained yesterday.

The announcement brought crushing despair to the family of one girl and joyous hope to another.

Last Monday, four stewardesses were in a head-on traffic crash while riding in a taxicab near the San Francisco airport. They were taken to Peninsula Hospital in Burlingame. One stewardess died. And on the basis of a few scattered personal papers found at the scene she was identified as Mary Hawthorne, 26, a blonde from New York City.

The survivors underwent surgery. One girl, her face bandaged, remained unconscious. She was identified as Joan Frost, 26, of New York City.

But the identifications were wrong and the body of Miss Frost was shipped to New York for burial.

Coroner Paul Jensen, 52, of San Mateo County, explained how it happened.

"Identification was made on the basis of the pulse and personal effects arriving at Peninsula Hospital."

"Here you have the situation — grave condition, but her family four girls arriving at the hospital all in the same uniforms, all with the same hairdos, and all with the same type of attire. . . it was a 10,000-to-1 shot that had four people dressed alike. . ."

Sentimental Gesture
The body of the dead girl had been placed in a sealed casket and when she arrived here the lid remained closed.

Only a sentimental gesture on the part of Miss Hawthorne's friends halted the funeral, scheduled for yesterday.

Norma Pugh, also an American Airlines stewardess, and another of Miss Hawthorne's friends, Robert Evans, an American flight engineer, went to the Bronx funeral home Wednesday night to pay their last respects.

Miss Pugh had one of Miss Hawthorne's favorite rings — a pearl friendship ring. She and Evans asked that the coffin be opened so they could place the ring on Mary's finger.

"Oh, my God," cried Evans "That's not Mary."

They called Mary's stepfather and her mother, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Schnell, of the Bronx.

"I was stunned," said Mrs. Schnell.

Hurried calls were placed to California and the bandaged girl regained consciousness yesterday and murmured:

"I'm Mary Hawthorne."

The correct identification came as a shock to Thomas Frost, father of the dead girl. He had flown to California to be near the girl he thought to be his daughter. He couldn't know that her body was in a funeral home across the country.

When told, he collapsed. He and his son William, 21, flew to their Philadelphia home last night. He was too grief-stricken to come effects arriving at Peninsula Hospital."

Mary Hawthorne still is in grave condition, but her family has hope.

Mobutu's Army Defies U.N., Arrests Strong Supporter of Lumumba

Demonstrators Seek Release Of Leopoldville President

LEOPOLDVILLE. The Congo arrest," had given Kamitatu assurances they would intervene in his behalf if Mobutu tried to seize him.

Sources close to Mobutu said Kamitatu was arrested for his attacks on the chief of state, Kasavubu.

Several hundred demonstrators this morning swarmed before U.N. headquarters and yelled for the release of Cleophas Kamitatu, 29-year-old president of Leopoldville province.

Mobutu rushed troops with fixed bayonets and machine guns, apparently to disperse the crowd from Kamitatu's Bambala tribe. But U.N. officers persuaded the soldiers to withdraw to avert a clash.

Bustled Into House
More than 300 Congolese soldiers swooped down on Kamitatu's residence shortly after 9 p.m. yesterday and brushed aside the provincial leader's bodyguard without a fight.

Kamitatu, his wife and children were hustled to a house in Camp Leopold II. Mobutu's headquarters, where they were put under close guard. Mrs. Kamitatu and the two children were later released and took refuge with Ghazala Charge D'affaires Nathaniel Welbeck, another Lumumba supporter.

Kamitatu, who commands the 2000-man police force in Leopoldville province, earlier this week had challenged Mobutu to carry out a threat to arrest him.

"Just let him come," he told newsmen.

Denounced Regime
Kamitatu has repeatedly denounced the regime of Mobutu and President Joseph Kasavubu as "dictatorial and totalitarian."

In recent weeks the provincial leader has worked closely with the United Nations command but, unlike Lumumba, he was not under the protection of U.N. troops.

There were reports, however, that United Nations officials, who have condemned "government by

Boy Touches Off Fire Which Took Lives of Three

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A fire which investigators said was touched off by a four-year-old boy playing with matches swept a home Thursday night killing three children.

Deputy Fire Chief Joseph Cody said John Mullins lighted a newspaper which touched off the blaze. Cody said John died in an apparent attempt to rescue his two younger sisters, Sharon, 18 months, and Deborah, 6 months, who were killed as they lay sleeping.

Another Mullins' child, Patricia, 8, led two other sisters, Marie, 5, and Michele, 3, down a staircase to safety.

A neighbor, Archie Smith, 38, attempted to rescue the children but was driven back by heavy flames.

The children's mother, Kathleen Mullins, 24, had left them alone in the house for a few minutes, officials said, while she went to a neighbor's home to report a disruption in her electrical service.

WHAT A SOLDIER THINKS ABOUT IT

From "This Man's Army", conducted by Old Sarge in Liberty Magazine, March 29, 1941.

"Last week I strained my back horsing around with the boys. The sarge sent me to the infirmary. Ye gods! Pills and Tape. After a week I was going nuts. Couldn't walk. Took matters in my own hands and saw a Chiropractor. He said something about a subluxated vertebra, gave a hitch and a twist, and I walked out feeling fine. How's about chiro in this army?" # Lawyer Tells Procedure for Condemnations

New State Law Provides for Commission Hearing

A new procedure for conducting condemnation through a county condemnation commission was outlined for members of the Outagamie County Bar Association by Gustave Keller, Appleton attorney and a member of the county condemnation commission.

Under the new system, Keller said, an individual has a choice of accepting the offer for his land, appealing to the circuit court for a cause other than money, appeal to circuit court and bypass the condemnation commission, or appeal to the commission.

Rigid time limits are met on the commission hearings, Keller said. The chairman of the commission must within seven days of the appeal select three of six commission members to hear an appeal.

Must View Land

Notice then must be given to all the parties involved.

At the time of the hearing, Keller declared, the commission can be used for one of two purposes. It can serve as the lower branch of a court—which is a waste of time, or it can be used as a means of settlement and eliminate a circuit court trial.

Keller said that in the course of the hearing the commissioners first have to view the land in question and witnesses then are called by the individual or the condemnor. The fact that the commissioners view the land reduces the necessity for repetitious witnesses.

The commission makes its decision on the basis of their view of

C of C Program For Development Now Available

"Project Future," the Appleton Chamber of Commerce plan of work for the Appleton area in the 1960s, has been returned from the printer and is available at the Chamber office.

The booklet will be made available to convention guests and supplied to interested parties on request.

The program of work contains immediate and long range objectives for community development and deals with airport development and improved air service, education, parking, traffic and safety, industrial, downtown and area development, government planning, transportation and a civic center study.

The plan was drawn from questionnaires and a study program by a committee made up of R. E. Williams, chairman; Gus A. Zuehlke, Gordon A. Bubolz, John Conway, Edwin J. Duszynski, William E. Schubert and Karl P. Baldwin.

Three Bands, Four Choruses to Perform At St. Joseph School

Three bands and choruses of four grades will perform at the St. Joseph School fall music festival at 3 p.m. Sunday in the school gymnasium.

Nancy DeLeest will play a snare drum solo, "Drum-beat Jamboree," accompanied by the first band.

Grades one, three, five and seven will demonstrate new techniques and materials introduced into the vocal program this year.

Gets Scholarship

Miss Geraldine Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cooper, 739 W. Eighth St., received a scholarship for a year's nursing school tuition from J. J. Stangel Hardware Co., Manitowoc. Miss Cooper is in her second year of training at St. Agnes Hospital School of Nursing, Fond du Lac.

the land, the testimony and evidence. They do not know the original offer, Keller said.

If a decision is not satisfactory to either party, the matter can be appealed to circuit court.

Keller said the new law, passed in 1959, is a decided advance. It is less expensive, less work and often a better equity is received under the new system, he said.

Gilbert Relien, left, and Arno Seifert, right, both of Appleton, were awarded the Friends of 4-H plaques at the annual Outagamie County 4-H Leaders recognition banquet last night. Donald Decker, president of the leaders association, presented the awards for the men's outstanding contributions to the club program.

Correct Evaluation of Flat Feet Should be From Doctor

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Please write about flat feet. My daughter is 4."

I have had her in orthopedic shoes for two years. Some people tell me that's the thing to do, and others say have her feet X-rayed and plaster casts made for her arches. Still others say she'll outgrow the problem.—Mrs. S.S."

Most children have flat feet early in life. The curve of the arch develops as they grow older.

There's no rule you can apply, by yourself, to know when a foot is too flat. The correct evaluation comes only after one has had special training and seen some hundreds of thousands of cases. That, in fact, is the reason why we have doctors and why it takes doctors so long to get their training.

I do say, however, that a good many persons specializing in children's shoes are very useful in telling customers which children ought to be taken to the doctor for an expert opinion.

Orthopedic shoes, if they are really needed, often do an excellent job. Sometimes a child is well past four before the arch begins to develop properly. But the question of whether to use such shoes or not isn't to be decided on the basis of what somebody tells you. Decide it on the basis of what your pediatrician or an orthopedic specialist says.

See a Doctor

"Dear Dr. Molner: A persistent lump has formed inside my right ear lobe. Should I have it checked for cancer? I am 17, if the age makes a difference.—A.M."

My friend, if at 17 you will accept from me one piece of advice, it will give you great comfort for many years. Don't "have a lump checked for cancer." Have a lump checked to see what it is!

The probability is that a lump such as you describe is a cyst, requiring removal only for the sake of appearance, if it is that big. In short, for cosmetic reasons.

Any lump may be a cancer. But the majority of lumps are not.

Diet Best

"Dear Dr. Molner: Please answer this for five high school girls, 16. We have all been trying night in front of the Y.M.C.A. Fe-to lose weight but couldn't until lauer was taken to the police sta- we learned of a drug that takes tone after a tussle in which his jacket was torn.

Personally I wonder how much bad influence is contained in modern fashion photography — pictures of models who are, by virtue of starvation, so skinny that practically nobody can wear the clothes they model. High school girls by the hundreds ruin their naturally beautiful, lithe figures by trying to be bony, too.

Anyway, girls, if in high school you have to help on drugs to kill your healthy, normal appetites, what's it going to be like when you are in the 20s or 30s? It's going to be murder! Better rely on learning to eat just enough to keep a good figure, now, than to start leaning on drugs. Drugs, however, safe, demand a price. You'll pay a price in being dependent on them, and pay a price is too-tense nerves I say, flatly but beseechingly: Quit this money business!

On Shingles

"Dear Dr. Molner: What is the cause of shingles and is there any cure?—Mrs. L.W."

Shingles is a form of neuritis—a virus which attacks some of the nerve trunks. It evidently is similar to chickenpox virus, but probably not identical.

An attack runs its course—sometimes this takes a short time, and sometimes a long time. In some instances the pain may be severe.

Medically, treatment is based essentially on relieving the pain and building up the patient's general health, which is of decided importance in putting an end to an attack.

Acne is one of the most terrible problems of growing up. If you are afflicted with this aggravation, or if you have children who are, write to Dr. Molner in case of this newspaper for a copy of his helpful and comforting booklet, "Acne—The Teenage Problem." Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope, and 20 cents in coin to cover handling. (Copyright, 1960)

Two Appleton Firms Expand

Two Appleton businesses have taken out building permits to expand their operations.

Appleton Vault Works, 1815-19 E. Wisconsin Ave., was issued a permit for a warehouse valued at $20,000.

Otto Knuth, one of the owners, said the concrete block building will be constructed behind the present business, and will provide 35,000 square feet of storage space. He expects it to be ready for use by spring.

A 525-square foot addition will be built to the Quaker Dairy store at 1326 N. Meade St., to provide more merchandising area and to make room for more refrigeration equipment.

Ben Cherkasky, president, said the $1,200 addition will be on the south side of the present building.

William J. Korek, 19, 1929 N. Clark St., was found innocent of speeding after trial in municipal court Thursday. Bond of $18.95 was returned to him. The Post-Crescent Tuesday erroneously listed Korek among those who had paid fines for speeding.

Plaques Awarded

Leaders, Friends of 4-H Recognized at Banquet

SEYMOUR — Leaders and friends of Outagamie County 4-H were lauded for service last night during the annual county leaders banquet here.

Gilbert Relien, of the Appleton State Bank, and Arno Seifert, First National Bank of Appleton, were recognized as Friends of 4-H. The plaque award is given yearly to those persons who have done outstanding work in donating time and services to the club program.

Mrs. Herbert Stengle was praised for her 25 years of service as a 4-H leader and given a certificate as an outstanding alumni member. She was picked as one of the four top alumni members in the state.

New officers of the 4-H Leaders Association are Lyle Kaddatz, vice president; Mrs. Reinhard Sommers, treasurer; Curtis Winterfeldt, adult director, and Larry Mossholder, junior director.

Noble Cause

Jerry Spaay, Kimberly, the main speaker, said leaders carry out the most noble cause of all—the cause of youth.

Three things can be done with a 4-H program — maintain its status quo, mold the program as needs arise or mold an active aggressive program now to meet the demands of the future. Spaay said. Leaders should develop the latter program, he declared.

Not all was praise during the evening. Jim Koleske, a junior leader, chided the 92 junior leaders in the county for their lack of support. Junior leaders are complacent, he said. They sit back and let only nine do the work.

Typically, an elementary-school teacher, during a thirty-year career, will live with, work with, and love more than 1,000 children. (How many parents can claim that amount of experience?) Teachers receive extensive training in child psychology. They learn to recognize the signals of potential delinquency... they learn that reading difficulties often result from emotional problems... they learn the characteristics and needs of children at each age level.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, recently pointed out to the International Association of Chiefs of Police, some of the miracles of science in crime detection and fingerprint identification that now are being used to assist the law enforcement officers in the performance of their duties. As a result of these scientific advancements, police agencies across the United States last year cleared 58 per cent more crimes by arrest than they did in 1950. One major contribution towards this remarkable police record is the development of a high degree of cooperation within the police profession and especially between the FBI and local police organizations. Never before, he said, has such cooperation prevailed nor has the equipment and technique for promoting the cause of justice ever been more efficient than that now at the disposal of police departments. But in spite of this, the crime problem has continued to grow.

In contrast to these indications of false economy, Mr. Hoover pointed out that the nation's annual crime bill now totals $22 billion per year. That is equivalent to $128 for every man, woman and child in the United States. For every dollar spent on education, $1.11 goes to crime. And for every dollar contributed to religious organizations, crime costs the people of the United States $9. It must be quite obvious that on a purely financial basis we can well afford to spend more for crime prevention and detection. But there is another good reason for increasing our crime detection budgets. Since 1948, Mr. Hoover pointed out, juvenile arrests have more than doubled while the population in this group has increased by less than one-half. Today youthful offenders account for more than one-fourth of the arrests for robberies, one-half for burglaries and larceny and nearly two-thirds for automobile thefts. This is a condition we scarcely can afford to tolerate.

This is political reporting, if it's anything, and we find ourselves wondering again what in the name of reason it has to do with the public health information functions of the state health administration. We would suggest that Dr. Carl Neupert, the executive officer of this agency, review this provocative document again and ask his editorial assistants precisely what they were driving at.

Why Kennedy Won Election Summarized by AP Writer

Hair's Breadth Decision One Of Closest in This Century

BY ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—John F. Kennedy has won the presidency, and the question today is, what brought him victory?

Why did Kennedy, and not Richard M. Nixon, win this hair's-breadth decision?

What produced this result, so close in state after state, some won by Kennedy, some by Nixon, the verdict could have gone the other way by shifting comparatively few votes?

To find out what's behind this exceptionally close verdict—not in this century have we had such a close one—The Associated Press has called on political experts from New York to California to Hawaii.

Show How Difficult

Their answers show how difficult it is to figure the voter's mind in this vast country.

In general, the experts seem to agree that Kennedy's Roman Catholicism helped him more than it hurt him, that he won ground on his television appearances, that he won much of the Negro vote, that Nixon lost in economically distressed areas.

In all these explanations, though, there still is no answer to this puzzle:

Since more voters are registered Democratic than Republican, how did Kennedy win so many points and still have such difficulty in pulling through?

But here's a rundown of key states in democracy's most fascinating story, the way it chooses its leader:

OHIO

Possibly no other state provided as big a surprise. Nearly everyone figured Ohio in the bag for Kennedy. Yet its 25 electoral votes went to Nixon, by a fairly substantial margin.

Why? Gov. Michael V. Di Salle blames himself. He put through a tax program last year that cost more than three hundred million dollars. This, he says, may have made the Democratic party unpopular.

And Di Salle, a Catholic himself, added: "I guess I would be less than honest if I didn't say the religious issue was an important factor in Ohio."

Editor Disagrees

Michael Bradshaw, editor of the Toledo Blade, disagrees with Di Salle on the importance of the religious issue, particularly in populous industrial northern Ohio. Bradshaw blames the tax increase — and Democratic overconfidence.

SOUTH CAROLINA

If Ohio was the biggest blow to Kennedy, South Carolina must have been the most distressing news to Nixon. Nearly everyone was sure—especially Nixon supporters — that South Carolina's eight electoral votes would swing his way.

The Negro vote helped beat Nixon here, but a heavy Democratic vote by textile workers and an historic South Carolina reluctance to vote Republican were cited as added factors by S. L. Latimer Jr., editor of the Columbia State.

Latimer cited one Negro precinct that gave half its votes to Eisenhower in 1956 but went 4-1 for Kennedy this year.

Both Latimer and Wayne Freeman, editor of the Greenville News, said Negro registration was much heavier than in 1956 and Freeman added: "I think that may have played a part."

"The religious issue worked in reverse in this state, I think," Freeman said. "The Democrats very cleverly kept it alive and turned it to their own advantage."

PENNSYLVANIA

As far as Kennedy is concerned, the big news here (32 electoral votes) is the Philadelphia story.

Or in the words of James R. Doran, editor of the Harrisburg Patriot-News:

"Sorting out causes for Nixon's went for Kennedy. And he thinks defeat in Pennsylvania (1) The Negro vote in Chicago was a astounding 326,407 Democratic big item in helping Kennedy carry plurality piled up by Rep. William J. Green's Philadelphia city machine. (2) The Republicans' 200,000 deficit in 10 distressed area counties. And (3) the religious issue."

Joseph M. Miller of the Philadelphia Inquirer points out that Democrats have a city registration of 587,000 votes — and Kennedy polled 612,000. Republicans registered 409,000 and Nixon polled 285,000.

"The complete collapse of the Philadelphia Republican organization," Miller says, "was the chief factor contributing to the outcome in Pennsylvania."

Big Factors

Adrian Lee of the Philadelphia Bulletin says unemployment and religion were the big factors in Pennsylvania. And on religion, Lee believes Kennedy was a big winner.

Republican Catholics flocked to Kennedy, but "in most of the so-called Bible belt counties, the anti-Catholic feeling didn't generate much bigger majorities than president Eisenhower got in 1956."

And the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette & Sun-Telegraph said in its post-election analysis: "The overriding factor in Pennsylvania undoubtedly was economic. There are pockets of serious unemployment and under-employment."

TEXAS

Texas wandered off the Democratic reservation in 1952 and 1956—and many believed it would give its 24 electoral votes to Nixon, too.

And when you wonder why it went to Kennedy you get three different reasons from three observers.

Sam Kinch of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram thinks personality played a major role: "Nixon was never able to match the popularity of Eisenhower. When he let himself get drawn into that debate series, he came off second best."

Raymond Brooks of the Austin American-Statesman credits Lyndon B. Johnson with getting the Democrats to close ranks and attack the Republicans.

No Battle of Issues "It wasn't a battle of issues in Texas," Brooks says, "but remarkable, intensive mobilization of former feudists who were induced to work under Sen. Johnson's leadership in building his organization for the presidential nomination."

"He had bridged most of the old Democratic family conflicts, drawing into teamwork many who had spent the last eight years fighting each other."

And Bob Hollingsworth of the Dallas Times Herald:

What factors led to John F. Kennedy's election as president? This becomes particularly significant in view of the closeness of the popular vote, the surprise results from some areas and the ballot-splitting in others. Political experts were asked to supply their own analyses. The AP's Arthur Edson, himself a veteran of the political campaigns, summarizes them in the following article.

running mate, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson.

Hembree also thinks Republicans pulled a political boo-boo. They allowed Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers, who has handled civil rights litigation, to come into the state and then, in Hembree's words, kept him hidden and unannounced on the campaign plane. When the word got out, he believes, it hurt Nixon.

NEW YORK

This is the big one, with 45 electoral votes. And Kennedy won it big, with a 400,000-vote margin.

Three of the five political writers consulted by the AP think Kennedy's religion was a major factor in sweeping New York. Leo Egan of the New York Times put it this way: "A great many Catholics who have been voting Republican apparently switched to Sen. Kennedy this time in the hope of electing a Catholic president for the first time in this nation's history."

Poor economic conditions, Egan added, hurt Nixon in some areas. Jack Medoff of the Buffalo Evening News agreed, saying, "There are only two logical conditions why so many Republicans voted for Kennedy and then went back to their own party on the (voting) machines."

Predominately Catholic

"1. Buffalo is predominately Catholic, an estimated 65 per cent. "2. Even if it is said in hush tones, the Buffalo area is very much depressed."

And Arvis Chalmers of the Albany Knickerbocker News:

"1. Kennedy's religion. "2. Support of ethnic groups whose backing had helped achieve New Deal victories of the 1930s and 40s. An example. Four heavily Polish-American wards in Buffalo gave Kennedy almost a 4-1 margin. Franklin D. Roosevelt polled only 2-1 margins in these same wards."

"3. A better-than-usual vote in economically depressed areas."

Tom O'Hara of the New York Herald Tribune was impressed with the way Kennedy ran his campaign.

"The Kennedy personal planning was astounding in its depth. The Kennedy personal machine kept up a steady barrage on the voters by bringing in distinguished speakers almost daily. Republicans complained even during the campaign that their man failed to do this."

And Dick Lee of the New York Daily News said, "Nixon's unpopularity with the New York voters, plus the economic conditions throughout the state and a slight touch of Mr. Rockefeller's high taxes, were responsible for the shift."

MINNESOTA

When Minnesota's 11 electoral votes went to Kennedy, at noon Wednesday, he was home a winner.

Sidney Goldfish, who directs the Minneapolis Tribune's poll, bases his analysis on his pre-election samplings.

Goldfish found that, in Minnesota at least, Kennedy had a stronger appeal for young voters and for women than Adlai Stevenson had in 1956. And Kennedy drew Stevenson also among college-educated persons, 33 per cent to 21 per cent, the polling indicated.

Economic Conditions

The Duluth Herald said editorially poor economic conditions in northern Minnesota, including the famous Iron Range, helped Kennedy.

And Managing Editor Franklin Rogers of the Mankato Free Press

comes up with what could be the greatest irony of the 1960 campaign. In West Virginia's primaries, Kennedy ran over Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., so convincingly that Humphrey dropped out of the race completely.

Yet, Rogers says, "Kennedy to indicate that this state definitely is in the Democratic column, popularity of Sen. Humphrey, who led his ticket by a wide margin, increased."

If Humphrey had not been on the ticket, it's doubtful if Kennedy would have carried Minnesota. Chicago's American said editorially: "The Democratic sweep in Cook County (Chicago) proved the enormous influence will be found to pull this, his home wielded by Mayor Richard J. Daley and the well oiled efficiency of his organization."

"Elsewhere in the state the trend was toward splitting tickets. In Chicago the trend was counteracted by the massive straight-ticket vote marshaled by the disciplined Democrats."

MICHIGAN

Kennedy was supposed to take this state's 20 electoral votes fairly easily. It wasn't easy, but he won them.

Here's William C. Kulsema, Lansing bureau chief for the Booth Newspapers, Inc., and his view of what happened:

"Kennedy took Michigan because of a superior Democratic AFL-CIO political machine and his attraction to women voters. He fired up party workers much more than Stevenson did in 1952 Nixon and 1956, and was able to overcome the issue of religion which says that at a time when "the state level was demoralized," there was a "vastly improved and militant Republican organization."

The Rocky Mountain News said editorially that "concern for the sound dollar and a firm foreign policy" influenced Colorado voters, and "the much discussed 'farm revolt' just wasn't there."

CALIFORNIA

Before the election, the pitch was that Democratic Gov. Albert D. Rosellini was in trouble and was clutching desperately for Kennedy's coattails.

Yet Rosellini was re-elected. Kennedy lost Washington's nine electoral votes.

Stub Nelson of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer and Ross Cunningham of the Seattle Times agree that this is partly due to Washington's independent, unpredictable voters, plus a Kennedy organization run by amateurs and a Nixon organization staffed by professionals.

The Rocky Mountain News said editorially that "concern for the sound dollar and a firm foreign policy" influenced Colorado voters, and "the much discussed 'farm revolt' just wasn't there."

Before the election, the pitch was that Democratic Gov. Albert D. Rosellini was in trouble and was clutching desperately for Kennedy's coattails.

Lost Under Best Circumstances; Rockefeller in Prime Position

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Has Vice President Richard M. Nixon won the right to another shot at the plight of an also-ran who can hardly expect to operate under as favorable showing against Sen. John F. Kennedy in Tuesday's election? again for the prize.

The answer to this question is not known. But whatever role he of opinion today. It is a query that takes as a private citizen he probably the political developments of 1964 would find that Kennedy's next four years can answer. face and Kennedy's record would

In those four years, while Nixon be imprinted on the voters while holds the usually vacuous role of his own political accomplishments titular party leader, other Republicans would be largely forgotten.

Rockefeller will have what he seemed to have everything going for him. He had behind him nearly eight years of the best kind of training the 1964 GOP presidential nomination could give him for the job. He had visited 55 foreign countries and a state that Nixon lost by 400,000 talked with their leaders. He had votes, despite what the vice president argued with Nikita Khrushchev himself described as the vigorous support of the Nixon cause.

Fighting Conservatives If it came to a battle of personalities again in 1964, Republicans are confident that Rockefeller could match Kennedy in this field. But even if he were re-elected governor, Rockefeller would face the same sort of fight from party conservatives that Eisenhower had to overcome to win the nomination.

Goldwater, who has graduated into the role of spokesman for the party conservatives, has made it clear he doesn't want Rockefeller as the nominee. But the conservatives don't often get their way at GOP nominating conventions.

Best Training The first tendency of many Republicans is to write off Nixon's political power as governor of New York. He lost in 1962, but he seemed to have everything going for him. He had behind him nearly eight years of the best kind of training the 1964 GOP presidential nomination could give him for the job. He had visited 55 foreign countries and a state that Nixon lost by 400,000 talked with their leaders. He had votes, despite what the vice president argued with Nikita Khrushchev himself described as the vigorous support of the Nixon cause.

Plight of An Also-Ran Generally speaking, times were good. The pocketbook issue appeared only in spotted party areas. Although the cold war danger clouds hung low, the nation was at peace. No American was fighting anywhere in the world.

President Eisenhower — probably the single most popular man in the country — was enthusiastically supported by the outside world, heavily for Nixon."

Color Schemes May be Clue To Personality

Some Hues Helpful As Husband, Wife Ideas May Differ

Have you ever observed the color schemes selected by different types of people? It's a fascinating game.

Fair-haired blue-eyed types invariably go for pale beige, pale blue and pale gray colors. Dark-eyed, dark-haired types like the vibrant colors that go with their personalities — red, orange, yellow, brilliant sun colors.

Furniture designer Sanford Wallack carries the theory further than that. He believes that the living room color scheme can provide clues about the people in the house, their personality, how they get along, and even the rules of the roost.

"Purple and lavender are new color trends in decorating and fashion," he says. "If you are the regal, authoritative type you can live with it."

"It is a good color for a couple if the man likes blue and the woman red because it is a mixture of both."

"Periwinkle, hyacinth, amethyst, damson, heliotrope or violet are different gradations of the same color."

Different personality types, Wallack has found, have definite and consistent color preferences, and when you see a room that predominates in a color, you can tell a lot about the occupants. Here's the way he tabs them:

Red — Excitement-loving, energetic, impulsive types

Yellow — Those who are sunny, cheerful and interested in the world around us

Blue — Cool and detached types also — direct opposites, keyed-up people who enjoy the soothing effect

Green — Relaxed, easy-going, adaptable people

Orange — Vibrant types who set a hectic pace

Tan — People who are seemingly calm — but watch it, says Wallack. "Tan is really orange, dulled down with gray."

Aqua — A cross between the green and blue types, cool, relaxed individuals or those looking for cool relaxation

Pink — Sociable types who enjoy life and like to be in the middle of everything

Black, white and grey are mainly used for accents, he explains. They are not used alone in large enough areas to dominate a room.

It's the "dirty green" decorator look that puzzles Wallack. He says it may or may not be an expression of personality.

"Scientifically speaking a preference for muddy colors is a tip-

Don't Overlook Fall For Planting of Roses

Fall is a favorite with many rose gardeners in the cooler regions of the country, who know that the autumn season is a good time for planting. Many experienced rosarians prefer fall planting because the plants get off to a head start as soon as warm spring weather begins.

From a purely practical standpoint, fall offers another advantage to the gardener, in that there are less chores to be undertaken and time is not at such a premium as it is in the spring.

Planting roses is not a difficult job but it should be done properly to get the best results. The first step is to select plants of top quality, and when it comes to roses, the best is designated by the green and white AARS (All-America Rose Selections) label. The label means that the variety has been pre-tested under every type of growing condition and that it is rated superior by the nation's top rosarians.

Off of an illogical, disorganized and somewhat selfish personality. But social and cultural forces are apt to be major factors in the decision to go along with a decorator's recommendations.

A homemaker in an industrial community might choose "dirty" green to keep the cleaning bills down in large enough areas to dominate a room.

It's a good idea to mix colors, he points out.

"Red not only expresses excitement, it creates it. It could lead noise that strikes it, say building into a turbulent home life. Too many materials specialists. Small much blue leads to brooding. An overdose of a color can introduce the sound waves and muffle loud noises.

Perforated fiberboard tiles can create an attractive ceiling that absorbs 45 to 50 per cent of the sound. It could lead noise that strikes it, say building into a turbulent home life. Too many materials specialists. Small much blue leads to brooding. An overdose of a color can introduce the sound waves and muffle loud noises.

Cool, Light Colors Best for Kitchen

Size, Shape of Wall Should be Considered in Selecting Paint

For more comfortable cooking, when selecting the kitchen wall paint your kitchen a cool color. The cooling effect of walls painted blue, blue-gray, blue-green or pure green provides welcome refreshment when baking and broiling make the temperature rise.

On the other hand, warm wall colors, such as reds, pinks, oranges and yellows will accentuate the warmth of the room. These shades are best limited to accents.

However, if you definitely prefer to paint the walls a warm color, select a soft tint of the chosen color. For example, a pale yellow would be more pleasing than a bright canary hue.

Another tip to keep in mind: Accent colors are an important factor in determining the overall effect. One accent hue is sufficient for a small kitchen. In larger kitchens, two accessory colors will look very attractive. However, more than two can be distracting. Unless the ceiling is quite low and it is more desirable to paint it white or a pale version of the wall color painting it an accent color adds to the decor. The interiors of cabinets and drawers are also ideal areas for displaying an accent hue.

Ceiling Paint

A flat paint is recommended for the ceiling. A semi-gloss enamel is best for the walls and wood work because it can resist frequent scrubbing. For cabinet and drawer interiors, kitchen furniture, canisters and other miscellaneous equipment and even broom handles and dustpans, a tough enamel finish is ideal. If the linoleum is worn in spots, or if the color does not blend with the new kitchen decor, a coat of quick-drying latex floor enamel will make it shining new. These easy-to-use floor enamels come in a wide assortment of colors.

Before any painting is begun the surfaces should be properly prepared to insure good results. Walls usually require only dusting. However, areas near the stove may need detergent and scrubbing to remove any grease. Any small cracks or holes in walls and until you achieve a uniform finish, woodwork should be patched with a commercial filler and sanded smooth after being allowed to dry. For better adhesion, they are too soft to sand of your new coat of paint, withstand pressure without splitting. It's recommended to roughen any wood sanding only.

Don't use flint paper or emery cloth with a portable electric sander, thoroughly dry. For better adhesion, they are too soft to sand of your new coat of paint, withstand pressure without splitting. It's recommended to roughen any wood sanding only.

Smoke Room Damaged in Blaze at Chilton

CHILTON—A fire Thursday noon destroyed the interior of the meat smoking room of the Chilton Meat Service Plant and several hams and slabs of bacon being processed there before being brought under control by the Fire Department.

Del Wolff, owner of the plant, said he started the smoking process earlier in the day. He believes fire sending it out of control. Although the actual damage has not been determined, it is expected to exceed several hundred dollars.

Between 20 and 30 persons were killed and many others were wounded in sharp fighting between the rebel battalions and troops loyal to Diem. But by 3 p.m. calm prevailed in the capital. Armored units rolled into the city from Mytho, 75 miles to the south, in answer to a call from the president—but they joined the rebels.

No U. S. Casualties

The rebel military committee which took over the government was headed by paratrooper Col. Nguyen Khanh Thi. It claimed the full support of the army, navy and air force and said it had formed a temporary government.

No casualties were reported among the several thousand Americans in the country as military or civilian advisers to the Diem government.

The bachelor president, 59, a dedicated anti-Communist whose dictatorial methods and family influences had often come under fire, was reported alive inside the palace.

Le Van Ty    Ngo Dinh Diem

Gen. Le Van Ty, commander in chief of the armed forces and Diem's hand-picked man, was arrested.

There was no word of the president's brother, Ngo Dinh Nhu, or his wife. They were Diem's closest advisers, lived in the palace with him, and have been considered the powers behind the president.

Rebel Announcement

The rebel military committee, in a broadcast announcing the ouster of the pro-American president, charged:

"Ngo Dinh Diem adopted a family dictatorship and was unable to face the situation which has deteriorated because of mounting Communist danger. The army has been divided and the population is without any freedom."

There was absolutely no indication that the army rebels contemplated a neutralist policy, as neighboring Laos has just adopted. The new military junta said in a broadcast it had no political affiliations and had seized control of the government "to re-establish security in the country."

Sharing borders with neutralist Cambodia and Laos, South Viet Nam is a cornerstone of the Western defense arch in Southeast Asia. The South Vietnamese army of 120,000 men is supported by U.S. aid funds. There was no immediate comment from the U.S. Embassy in Saigon.

3 UW Paintings Recovered in Student's Home

MADISON (AP)—Three paintings valued at $2,400 by the University of Wisconsin were recovered by police Thursday along with a truckload of merchandise found in a student's home.

Capt. Thomas R. Nee of the city's detective bureau said Robert D. Copus, 26, Black Earth, admitted taking the paintings. Nee quoted Copus as saying he wanted to avenge the loss of a wallet he reported missing a year ago.

Authorities took Copus to a hospital for mental observation.

Nee said that with the paintings, police found tape recorders, radios, records, books, clothing and foodstuffs in the home.

Boys Find $188,613 In Non-Negotiable Checks Near Mail Box

DETROIT (AP) — Three boys tossed $188,613 to the wind Thursday.

The money was in the form of non-negotiable checks, however.

The boys, 9 and 10 years old, found the checks under a mail box. They were marked for delivery to a Detroit bank. The boys tried to cash them, but couldn't.

So they tossed them away. Someone saw them and told police, who recovered all but about a thousand dollars' worth.

The checks were stamped so that they could only be deposited to a special account.

The boys were not held.

Report Marilyn Monroe Will Seek a Divorce

New York—The marriage of Marilyn Monroe and Arthur Miller has broken up and the couple will seek a divorce, Earl Wilson said today in a copyrighted story in the New York Post.

Wilson quoted Miller, Pulitzer Prize winning playwright, as saying "It's all over—there's no possibility of reconciliation. There'll be an announcement soon."

Florida. They were Kenneth O'Donnell, named yesterday as special assistant to the president; Lawrence O'Brien, political adviser; and Salinger.

Six secret service agents and three newsmen also were to board Kennedy's private plane.

No Appointments Today
Kennedy spent a quiet night with his family and Salinger said he had no appointments for today.

The appearance of Edmondson to hand-deliver the message from Macmillan came as a surprise.

Kennedy's vacation schedule includes a conference in Texas with Vice President-Elect Lyndon Johnson.

There were indications that he might ask President Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon to shoulder important responsibilities in the incoming government.

And Adlai E. Stevenson, twice Democratic candidate for president, appeared to be in his plans somewhere. Considerable speculation has centered on the possibility that Stevenson might be the next secretary of state.

Dulles, Hoover Stay
Kennedy announced two super-important positions already are filled—by requesting the incumbents to remain in office.

They are Allen W. Dulles, head of the Central Intelligence Agency and J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Both agreed to stay.

One of Kennedy's top advisers said, "He felt that, because they are both sensitive posts, requiring a high degree of experience, the best thing is to keep Dulles and Hoover on the job."

As to other possible appointments, Kennedy said this in his first news conference as president-elect:

Q. (On Eisenhower)—"You told President Eisenhower that you hoped his long experience could be drawn on further in the years to come. Have you anything specifically in mind?"

Delays Comment
A. "I have some thoughts, but I thought I would wait until I talked to him about it."

Q. (On Nixon)—"Is there any possibility that you might ask him to serve?"

A. "I would rather talk with him before I would say anything. I think we ought—I don't know what he is planning to do."

Q. (On Stevenson)—"Do you plan to give a major role in your administration to Adlai Stevenson?"

A. "I talked to Gov. Stevenson yesterday on the matter of—I would prefer to postpone until I come back to the whole question of roles, appointments, responsibilities."

Liaison Man
Kennedy also announced that he has named Clark Clifford, Washington lawyer, to be his representative as liaison with the Eisenhower administration during the period between now and the day he takes office. Clifford served as special counsel to former President Truman.

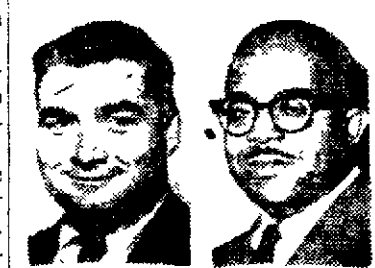

The duties of the liaison agent are to meet regularly with government officials and to keep the president-elect advised on developments in defense, foreign affairs, the preparation of the budget, etc.—to be the main link in the orderly transition of government.

He assigned four members of his personal staff to duty in the White House.

They are Pierre Salinger, former San Francisco newspaperman, political manager, and one-time piano student, to be White House press secretary; Salinger now lives in Falls Church, Va.

Andrew Hatcher, of San Francisco, official of the California State Labor Commission, to be assistant press secretary. Hatcher is a Negro.

To be special assistant to the president is Kenneth O'Donnell, of Worcester, Mass. O'Donnell was a key man in the team of advisers who worked with Kennedy during the presidential campaign. Theodore Sorenson, of Lincoln, Neb., to be special counsel to the

Labor Leader Says Democrats Were Complacent

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A labor leader said Thursday the Republicans worked hard in getting out the vote for their party while the Democrats lulled themselves into complacency.

John Schmitt, vice president of the Wisconsin AFL-CIO and head of the organization's Committee on Political Education, made the statement at a meeting of union business representatives.

Schmitt said that the Democrats placed too much faith in the drawing power of President-elect Kennedy on the basis of the primary vote, while the GOP went on with a tremendous job of organizing.

Schmitt also said that the Fox River Valley's area's so-called Roman Catholic block voting never materialized and that it now appears Republicans crossed party lines in the primary to make Kennedy the winner "as the easier man for Nixon."

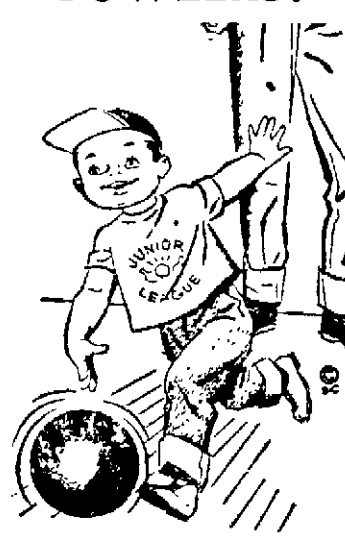

Atty. Gen. John Reynolds was reelected, Schmitt said, because of his previous campaign against a state sales tax.

through a long campaign and my health is very good today."

4. He has not discussed with his brothers whether they will play any part in his administration. It is known on god authority that Robert Kennedy, who was his campaign manager, would like to serve in government but has made no decision as to where, if at all, he will take office.

5. He will resign his Senate seat in December. He said it is Massachusetts Gov. Foster Furcolo's responsibility to fill it, "but I hope to have a chance to talk with him about the matter." Furcolo is a Democrat.

ditch and adjoining field as if someone sprayed them along the way.

Orders Inquest
Dr. G. A. Steele, Winnebago County coroner, said Bean's death was caused by a skull fracture. Sheriff Charles Lowry indicated there would be an inquest.

The accident occurred near the Ricker's Bay Road. The Spomer car, police said, had just come out of a curve when it went off the road, traveled 129 feet on the shoulder until it struck a pole. It then hurtled 150 feet through the air, squashing the top as it landed in the middle of the road.

A car driven by Robert J. Cowling, 26, 1226 Shorewood Drive, Oshkosh, struck the Spomer car as he attempted to stop as he came upon the accident scene.

Car Hits Wreck
He told police the Spomer car had passed him about a half mile north of the scene.

"The car was about 25 to 30 car lengths ahead of me when I saw it start to fishtail," Cowling said. "He went into the ditch and I stepped on the gas but had to step on the brake almost immediately because of the stones and mud flying through the air. Then all of a sudden the other car landed right in front of me. I swung my car to the left and went into a skid, but we hit."

The right rear of Cowling's car hit the Spomer car. Spomer told police he was going 85 to 90 miles an hour and lost control after coming out of the curve.

The fatality was the second in a week for Winnebago County and the 19th of the year, raising the road toll to three more than last year's entire toll.

The Stabnow death was the seventh in Waupaca County this year. He died of shock, brain concussion and skull fracture. He also suffered leg and rib fractures.

Funeral arrangements for Bean are being handled by the Fiss and Bills Funeral Home, Oshkosh, and for Stabnow at Heuer and Sievers Funeral Home, Clintonville.

Businessman Sees Stake in Education

U. S. Public School System Is Community Affair, Conway Says

President, Appleton Chamber of Commerce

American business has a vital stake in the progress of education. Increased economic and cultural well-being will be a company's continuing rise in the educational levels of the American people. Business shares in these benefits directly as an integral part of the whole community. Business also requires educated leadership for its own advancement and is dependent in great measure upon the schools and colleges of the nation to supply such leadership.

Conway

Individual and community responsibility, so basic to a free society and the success of representative government, are equally essential to the preservation of academic freedom and to maintenance of education of the highest quality. All measures that government may take to meet either temporary or long-range needs in public or higher education should be directed toward the stimulation of such individual and community responsibility — hence to the ends of maintaining freedom, economy, and efficiency. The historic separation of church and state is a basic tenet of the American constitutional system. Likewise, the freedom of education from domination by government must remain a basic tenet.

Community Affair

Based on these concepts, measures of government to support education should be subjected to full-scale public debate before adoption, to determine that they are prudent, reasonable and appropriate.

The nation's public school system is traditionally and distinctively a community affair. The states and the local school districts should accept full responsibility for the financing of public schools. Federal financing leads to federal control. In lieu of federal aid, modification of federal policies, which drain from the local levels the means by which financing could be accomplished by them, would remove the assumed need for federal funds.

Participate Actively

The American democratic system will be preserved only if citizens search for ways to participate actively in all appropriate matters pertaining to education.

In his capacity as a parent and a citizen, the businessman should take part in educational organizations and activities. A few of these are PTA, local or state conferences on education, citizens' committees, local and state boards of education, and Chamber of Commerce committee on education.

The active leadership of businessmen will help to maintain a better and a working partnership between the professional educator and the business community, to the mutual benefit of both.

Don't Rely On Break In Trumps

How would you play the South hand at four hearts? You may assume that West leads the deuce of spades, but don't rely on the East-West hands to be exactly as shown. After all, the defenders wouldn't show you their cards if you were actually playing the hand.

Perhaps your first plan is to win the spade, lead the queen of clubs to force out the ace, and take a safe discard on dummy's king of clubs. You can then ruff out the spades and draw trumps at leisure.

South dealer Both sides vulnerable
NORTH
♠ 8 4	♥ 10 5 4	♦ 5 3 2	♣ K 7 3
WEST
♠ J 9 7 2	♥ Q 10 6	♦ A 9 8 4	♣ A J 10 6
♠ 3 2	♥ 8 7	♦ A 9 8 4	♣ A J 10 6
♠ K 10	♥ A 9 8 4	♦ A 9 8 4	♣ A J 10 6
♠ 9 8 5 4 2	♥ A J 10 6	♦ A 9 8 4	♣ A J 10 6

♠ Q	♥ Q	♦ Q	♣ Q
South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
4 ♥	All Pass
Opening lead — ♠ 2

Bad luck overtakes you. When you give up the club trick the opponents take two top diamonds and then one of them ruffs a diamond. You're down before you can get started.

You revise your plan. Draw two rounds of trumps first. Then lead the queen of clubs.

Another kind of bad luck ruins you. The trumps are 3-1 instead of 2-2 (I warned you not to rely on anything 3-1 trump break is actually more probable than the 2-2 break.) An opponent takes the ace of clubs and leads a third trump. Now you can ruff only one spade in dummy.

Safe Plan

The hand isn't quite as easy as it looks. There's more to it than knowing how the trumps will break.

Begin by taking the top spades. Ruff a spade in dummy and return to your hand with a trump. Ruff another spade in dummy, and lead out more trumps until the trumps are drawn. By this time the opponents have no more spades and no more trumps.

Now lead the queen of clubs. Somebody has to win and return either a club or a diamond. Either way, you lose only two diamond tricks and your contract is assured.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one heart and the next player doubles. You hold S-8 4, H-Q 10 5 4, D-J 5 3 2, C-K 7 3. What do you say?

Answer: Bid three hearts. This jump raise, after a takeout double, is a shutout bid. You promise four trumps but very little more. (Copyright, 1960)

Trend Ideas From Decorator's Show

The greatest immediate influence on home fashion trends to be presented as an exhibition is undoubtedly the recent Design and Decoration 1961 show which was presented in New York by the New York chapter of the American Institute of Decorators. Top interior designers and manufacturers lavished their best talents and products on 120 displays.

Rooms created for the show emphasize the traditional revival with a free admixture of the contemporary high style with an eye on easy living, space saving with chic and new ideas for walls and floors. A great variety of period style are shown but rooms usually stick with the same style and period, rather than mix them, as has been true in most recent shows. A period design may be used on a very modern material, a damask on vinyl wall covering, for example, and the same pattern is often widely used in a room, as is shown by two rooms

An increasingly wider use of fabric and a taste for canopies are exemplified by the room at lower left, by Ellen Lehman McCluskey, which puts furniture wall areas and the canopy in the same striped print. Mary Dunn's French library, at upper right, is keyed by wall decoration, an old scenic wallpaper. Floor emphasis shows here as it does in Miss Harvey's room with wood and vinyl, this time in the herringbone parquet design. The floor at lower left is in Portuguese tile.

Dark walls and many deep bright color schemes are often seen in the show, but so are light walls and fresh, bright colors. One wall is in acoustical tile with narrow panels of walnut. Another room covers walls, cabinets and a sleep sofa in vinyl and is a living room-bedroom-kitchen combination. Simple built-in background intricately designed furnishings, and on the other hand, TV sets are sometimes built into formal pieces of furniture.

PROCRASTINATING WIDOW:

I realize full well the colossal task faced by a new widow with many letters to write, thanking friends for condolences, flowers, contributions to charity, etc. But when eight months go by without acknowledgment, I begin to think she isn't being very gracious. I don't want to take the wrong attitude, so please advise me.

Davis

Louise Davis Answers

Eight months is too long. Procrastination makes these duties much worse for the widow. It weighs on her conscience and meanwhile her friends get disillusioned. Unless a widow is mentally or physically ill, she should mail acknowledgments even if she doesn't write personal thank you notes. That's the least she should do. The longer one waits, the more difficult becomes the task, and the longer it takes to begin rehabilitation. It is much easier to write thank you notes within a short period after a death. Although the heart is heavy, the feeling of appreciation is strong. Of course it is possible that whatever you did for this widow was lost among the records. It often happens that cards with floral pieces become detached and lost and there is no way of tracing the donor.

SYMPATHY NOTE:

I have just learned that a former employee of mine was killed about 6 weeks ago in an automobile accident. He left me for service in the army. I liked him very much as a person and as an employee and wonder if it is too late to write a note of sympathy to his parents.

Louise Davis Answers: By all means do and it isn't too late. You can be sure that your message will be heart-warming to the parents whose grief is very deep.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Moller, D.V.M.

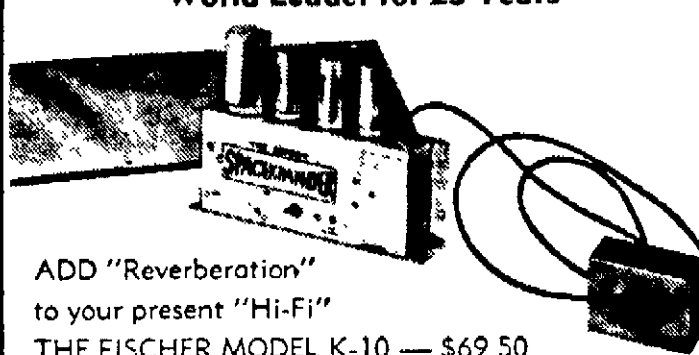

Q. We want a German Shepherd puppy, but hear this breed will attack strangers without provocation. Is this true—John Rollings, Middletown, R.I.

A. The two main characteristics all dogs have in common are aggressiveness and protectiveness, and they are particularly prevalent in the German Shepherd. Any dog worth his salt will attack a person who threatens the safety of your home and family, and this breed is basically a watchdog. Properly trained dogs soon learn to distinguish between friend and foe, and the German Shepherd has the upper paw in this respect. His keen intelligence and perception make him one of the most easily trained breeds. He quickly learns to control his instincts, or direct them in a useful manner. This dog will no more attack without provocation than any other breed. His formidable size is partly responsible for the unfair reputation, but I can assure you that the well trained German Shepherd is an asset, not a menace.

Company's Coming! 'Time to Polish Silver, Dust China, Create Attractive Centerpiece

With the holiday season drawing near, hostesses are concerned about their table settings and decorations. Once guest lists have been made, invitations mailed and the menu planned, the lady has time to devote to creating an attractive table.

Use Talents

Although one can't go out and purchase a new set of china or sterling each and every time one entertains, the hostess can, through a few creative talents or inspirations, change the atmosphere from one season to another. Because this is the time of festive holiday spirits, a walk in the woods to gather branches, nuts and berries can be quite profitable.

If the china and sterling pattern is quite lavish in pattern, then the centerpiece should, by all rules, be kept simple. Too much color detracts rather than adds to the party mood.

Choose Few Colors

Choose a few basic colors and try to pick up the dominant color in the china and carry it throughout the table decorations. Candles are popular for this time of year and can be found in almost any color. No longer is one restricted to the straight up and down type about an inch and a half in diameter. Now long, slender sticks, shorter wide ones and attractively dripped shapes are available. A few candles, pine boughs, holiday baubles and a knack for arranging add up to a delightful as well as serviceable centerpiece.

Display the Best

Whether the party is big or small, buffet type or full course dinner, the hostess should display her best china, silver and linen. It's not often that one has an opportunity to get out the best in the house. So take advantage of the season, wash the linen, polish the sterling and dust the china. Company's coming!

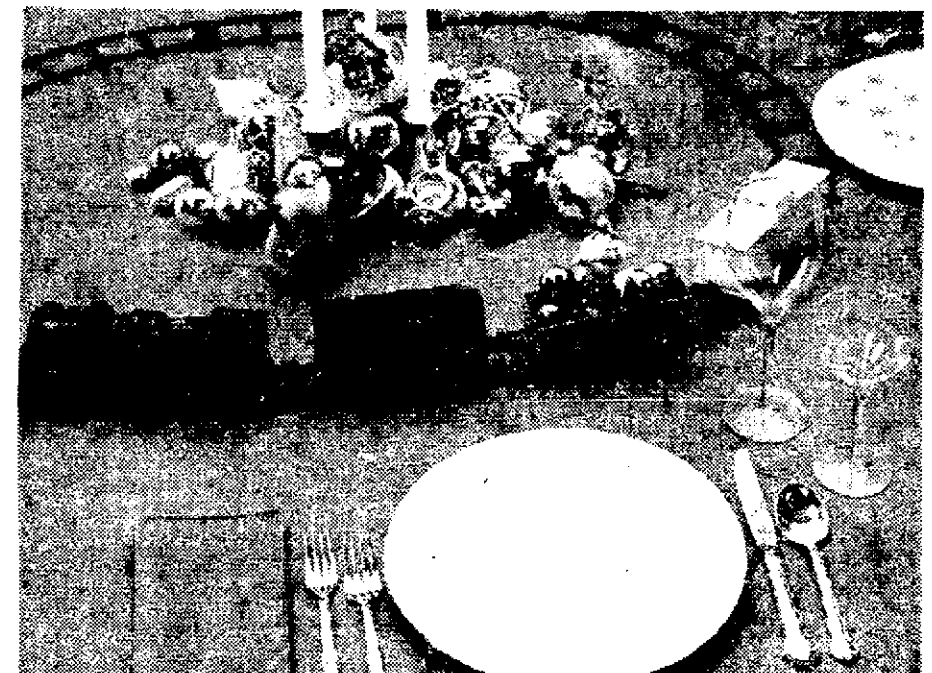

Today More Brides Than Ever Before are setting their wedding date for the fall rather than the traditional June and this means autumn colors are being used more at bridal tables. This cake, designed for fall weddings, is light beige and is decorated with asters, mums, russet vines and pale green grapes. Its coloring is emphasized by a circle of flat shadowy artificial ferns. The candles in the sterling candelabrum are beige. Modern sterling silver and white rice porcelain cups and saucers and plates are placed on a beige linen cloth. Below, a yellow Persian melon, purple and green grapes, apples, bananas and tiny green vines springing from small pots hidden midst the fruit stand on a deep yellow cloth for the Thanksgiving dinner. The place silver provides elegance and the feeling of family tradition and is definitely a part of the table's decoration. The white porcelain china plates are decorated with coppery flowers.

A Centerpiece of Nuts and Rosy red apples massed around three orange candles are set against a light brown linen cloth for a festive fall party. Below, a toy railroad track with a battery-operated train circles about on the sky-blue linen cloth of this dinner table set for Christmas day. In the center of the circle are vari-colored Christmas tree ornaments and a tiny Santa Claus. Metallic stars on the china complement the silver pattern and slim stemmed glasses.

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This is no gag. I'm on the level and need some serious advice. I happen to snore quite heavily when I am very tired. My wife read of a "sure-cure for snorers." She wants me to sleep with a plastic band around my head. On this band is fastened a bicycle horn. The horn is right in the back, so when the snorer turns on his back the horn blows and wakes him up.

My wife actually ordered this silly contraption through the mail. She paid $4 for it and wants me to wear it. I refused. She said if I really cared about her I'd do anything to see that she gets the sleep she needs.

Do you think I am justified in my position? Please answer in the paper. — O'Connor

Dear O'Connor: You're darned totin'.

DEAR ANN: Before my brother died he asked me to take his son into our home and finish raising him. I agreed. The boy was 17 when we took him. He's 20 now, and we've had nothing but trouble.

Johnny wouldn't stay in school and we had to get him a diploma through summer school and private instruction. He's a handsome kid, loaded with personality and the girls are always giving him presents and lending him their cars. We could never understand such behavior as our work, and sometimes brings men own two sons are attractive and charming, too, but no girl ever gave them so much as a handkerchief.

In the past year Johnny has passed half a dozen burn checks. I always covered for him because I didn't want him to have a record. I warned him the last time it happened that I wouldn't come through for him again.

Well, the bank called yesterday about a $50 check that looked forged. When I saw the check I lied and said it was my signature. I knew I had taken the kid off the hook again. I just can't let my brother's son go to prison. Please help me.—Mixed Emotions

Dear Mixed: This boy will continue to get into trouble so long as he knows someone will save his hide.

You haven't helped by covering for him time after time. You've merely delayed the day of reckoning. It's high time Johnny got his lumps, and I hope you'll let him.

DEAR ANN: My parents are divorced but Dad rents a room in the house. There's no trouble in fact, no conversation.

My grandparents live on the third floor and they argue quite a lot with my aunt who lives with them. She's about 40, won't

Miller and Bakken Declare They are In Good Shape

Joe Krakoski Expected to Miss Saturday's Illini-UW Contest

Bruhn had the squad working on its offensive and defensive formations Thursday with some emphasis on kicking. But the line men got the heaviest workout in preparation for the power push expected from the Illini Saturday afternoon.

Quarterbacks Ron Miller and Jim Bakken, hampered by injuries for the past several weeks, said they were in good physical shape.

Bruhn said that Miller would start in the signal calling spot.

Seek Best Mark
In the Illini, the Badgers face a squad seeking its best win-loss record since 1955. Illinois closes its season a week from Saturday, against Northwestern and victories in the last two games would give Pete Elliott a 6-3 record in his first year as head coach. In 1955, the Illini had a 5-3-1 record.

Both Wisconsin and Illinois will be attempting to bounce back from defeats last weekend. Wisconsin lost 21-0 to Northwestern and Illinois was edged 8-7 by Michigan. Both teams have the same overall records, 4-3.

Injuries probably will force the Illini to make their first major backfield change in five weeks. A shoulder separation has put left halfback Joe Krakoski out of action. Marshall Starks will be shifted to that position with Elhan Blackaby taking over at right half. Reserve fullback Jim Brown will be ready for full time duty, sharing the burden with his brother, Bill.

48,000 Expected
The 37th meeting between the schools is expected to draw a crowd of 48,000. The Badgers have not lost in Champaign since 1951, but the Illini won at Madison last year, 9-6.

Badger Coach Bruhn said "Illinois has a big line—averaging 226—and we've been worried about penetrating it."

"We've worked most of this

The odds - defying Lawrence College football team has a chance Saturday to achieve a distinction that would turn its recent standout performance pale by comparison.

The Vikes wind up their season at 1:30 p.m. Saturday on Whiting Field against St. Olaf, which has already assured itself of at least a share of the Midwest Conference title.

No Lawrence team has vanquished St. Olaf since 1952 - not even the title-contending Vikes eleven of 1953 and 1954.

6 Conclude Careers
Seniors Bob Smith, Jim Schulze, Joe Lamers, Bill Whitmore, Mike Ulwelling and John Dunning could bow out in a blaze of glory if the Vikes were to topple heavily-favored St. Olaf. And, a success over the power-laden Oles could become a springboard to a big '61 season for Viking underclassmen.

Since the injury-hampered, relatively inexperienced Vikes came of age at mid-season as a team to be reckoned with, they spilled Ripon (13-0) and Coe (18-2) and gave second-place Carleton a stout fight for three periods before falling.

But, Saturday's Lawrence task is the most monumental of all. The Oles (with a 23.6 point average) are not only the highest scoring team in the MC, but they're anxious to make certain that Tom Porter's first crown in his three years at the school will be an undisputed one. (A Carleton win-over Coe—coupled with a St. Olaf loss would create a tie tie).

St. Olaf, which has symbolized power football since its 1952 entry into the MC, has won three championships and has posted a glossy overall record of 47-17-2.

In giving St. Olaf its first championship season since 1956, Porter is relying heavily on two of the key players who helped him produce a high school championship unit at Neenah that same year. Quarterback Denny Davis and end Bill Diederich—both all-Mid-Eastern Conference choices in '56—are now vital cogs in St. Olaf's potent offensive machine.

Davis, a 5-foot-9, 173 - pound senior, has blossomed into a "bomb-type" passer in his first year as a regular. He has completed only 14 of 37 passes—but seven of them have gone for touchdowns.

Dangerous Backfield
Diederich, a 5-10 junior who transferred from Purdue, has hauled in three of the TD flips. Davis is part of what ranks as the best-balanced and probably the most dangerous backfield in the league. Bill Winter, 205-pound fullback, was a second team all-conference choice last season—as

Six Former Packers Will Start For Dallas in Sunday's Game

7th Onetime Bay, Fred Cone, Is Also Threat

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY—Six of the seven former Packers with the Cowboys will get starting assignments at City Stadium Sunday.

The seventh, Fred Cone, who married a Green Bay girl, will be out to make it seven, with his extra point kicks. He's also a field goal kicker deluxe, topping the Packers' all-time list, with 53 three-pointers.

Band Together
These seven have banded together for one big purpose—beat the Packers.

Any one ex-Bay could become a key figure in whipping the Packers but there must be a special category for the Rice redhead Howton. Billy could really cause trouble.

Howton is just now catching his wind. He reported the week before the league season and has caught nine passes for 170 yards and two touchdowns. He has been good and bad in the first six games, dropping most everything in some games and then catching everything in other battles.

It's for certain Billy will bring his finger glue to Green Bay. Howton came to the Packers in 1952 and played seven years.

Traded Bill
Coach Vince Lombardi traded Howton to the Browns in the spring of his first year here for defense end Bill Quinlan and offense halfback Lew Carpenter.

Quinlan has paid off handsomely in bolstering the Bays' defense and Carpenter has been valuable as an all-around threat. Howton played in Cleveland in '59 and then decided to retire. He threw oil retirement just before this season and joined Dallas.

Howton was a tremendous receiver during his Packer days. He broke two Don Hutson records—1,231 yards in one season and 257 yards in one game, and pulled up second to Don in many other pass receiving departments.

The big chore of gunning down Howton will be in the hands of fellow Texas Hank Gremminger and wily Em Tunnell. This will be Hank's first crack at Bill, other than a few plays in the non-leagues in Minneapolis—two days after Howton reported. Former Giant Tunnell played against

Bays Fear Cowboys, Skoronski Declares

Says Hackbart Is Being Tried in Whittenton's Spot

Tackle Bob Skoronski assures Packers fans that Green Bay is not taking its upcoming game with winless Dallas lightly.

"I'm scared of this game," Skoronski said here Thursday night. "They could open up this week."

The seven former Packers playing for Dallas are one big factor that make the Cowboys extra tough for this one, said Skoronski at the Appleton High School junior varsity banquet. He also intimated that the Cowboys are getting fed up with being called cast-offs.

"Don McIlhenny phoned Forrest Gregg (his former roommate) and said 'we're going to beat you'," according to Skoronski.

6 More Wins
The big lineman said the Packers have got to win six more games to be sure of a title tie since they feel they can't rely on the Bears or anyone else to beat Baltimore.

Skoronski characterized the Packers as a young team, with a good nucleus for three, four or five years, and "if we don't take all the marbles this year, we feel we can do it next season."

The Packers don't have too many all-pro players, but they're a young group with desire and togetherness, Skoronski said. "I've never seen a team with so much spirit," he added.

Extra Running
Because of the extra running Coach Vince Lombardi prescribes, Skoronski termed Green Bay "the best conditioned team in the league."

Skoronski said he isn't sure if ace defensive back Jesse Whittenton will play against the Cowboys. He said he would rather see Whittenton held out of action and avoid a chance of aggravating the leg injury to be sure he'd be in top shape for the Rams Nov. 20. With such outstanding ends and backs as "Red" Phillips, Jon Arnett and Del Schofer on the Ram roster, the Packers will need their best defense, the speaker indicated.

Titans to Meet Boston '11' in AFL Tonight

Game Is Battle For Second Place In Eastern Division

BOSTON (AP) — Sammy Baugh's cliff-hanging New York Titans, beaten in their last three, take on hopeful Boston tonight in a battle for second place in Eastern Division of the American Football League.

New York holds the No. 2 spot with a 4-5 record while Boston is 3-5. Neither has much hope of catching front-running Houston, 6-2.

The Titans seem to specialize in last-quarter thrillers. Of the 221 points scored against them, 77 came in the last quarter.

And in their nine games, six of them have been decided in the last four minutes.

One of those was Boston's 28-24 victory over New York earlier this season. Chuck Shonta scooped up a New York fumble and ran 20 yards for a touchdown on the last play of the game.

The game is the only Friday action in the league. Sunday games have Houston at Los Angeles, Buffalo at Oakland and Denver at Dallas.

Expect Koehler, Zang to Start Bearcat Tilt

Bellile Only MU Griddler Sure to Miss Saturday's Finale

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Marquette staged the last heavy drill of the week Thursday in preparation for the meeting with Cincinnati's Bearcats here Saturday, the season finale for the Warriors.

Coach Lisle Blackburn had every man working on offense, defense, punting and kick returns.

Terry Zang ran with the first unit at quarterback, indicating he will have the starting assignment. Mike Koehler took over the No. 1 fullback position. Veteran Mike Shea was still limping but is expected to see some action.

Blackburn said the only man definitely out is end Wally Bellile, benched with a knee injury.

This is very definitely a must game for us," said Blackburn, whose Warriors are attempting to bring home the best win-loss record since 1953. "We are approaching this game as if it was for the national championship."

The players, who are attempting to snap a four-game losing streak, "have looked very, very good in practice this week," the coach said. "The ability is there."

Blackburn went on: "We've got to play football Saturday, there's no doubt about it. Cincinnati is a heck of a good team even though it has been losing. They pushed Houston all over the field last Saturday, then made a mistake on pass coverage and lost 14-0."

Last Game
The Bearcats will be playing their last game for Coach George Blackburn, who announced this week he is retiring on Dec. 1 after six years at Cincinnati. He said his resignation was "in the best interest of all concerned." His squad has lost five straight games.

Blackburn's decision could be a factor in favor of the Warriors, but Blackburn hasn't been taking changes. He's drilling his squad hard and finds it in reasonably good health.

"Physically, we're not too bad off. We're not going to do any screaming about our injuries. Our line is in pretty good shape and Dave Theisen is in better shape now than at any time since the first game."

Blackburn wouldn't make any advance determinations about his starting quarterback. "We'll just have to play a hunch," he said.

The game will be the last for eight Warriors, including captain in last-quarter thrillers. Of the 221 points scored against them, 77 came in the last quarter.

And in their nine games, six of them have been decided in the last four minutes.

One of those was Boston's 28-24 victory over New York earlier this season. Chuck Shonta scooped up a New York fumble and ran 20 yards for a touchdown on the last play of the game.

The identical single wing plays that worked so successfully for Lawrence College's Bernie Heselton during his prep coaching days at Milwaukee East, helped Waupaca High to the Central Wisconsin Conference title this season.

Comet Coach Leroy "Hobby" Haberkorn learned the single wing stuff while a member of Heselton's powerful East High clubs in 1928 and 1929.

This season's championship was Haberkorn's tenth in 16 seasons at Waupaca. It was the ninth solo crown.

The play that won the championship was just about the most unusual in the 48-year-old Haberkorn's coaching career.

He sent junior end Mike Miller into the game with these instructions: "Field goal, Thomack back."

Didn't Hear

Miller didn't hear the "Thomack back" part of the instructions and he went back into field goaling position himself. Miller, the Comets' point-after-touchdown man, doesn't get the distance from placement that Thomack does.

Miller's field goal try in the Marion game had hit the crossbar and fallen just short in the only non-victory for Waupaca during the CW season, a 6-6 tie. Thomack had been booting them from 35 yards out in practice.

The coaches were shouting at Miller to let Thomack kick but Mike stayed where he was and booted the ball through the uprights, from 27 yards away. "That ball just cleared the crossbar and then died," smiles Haberkorn. "It went 27 yards, and 12 inches."

3-0 Victory

The goal brought the Comets a 3-0 win over Weyauwega.

The 1960 club is the heaviest Haberkorn has ever had at Waupaca, averaging about 186 pounds.

His four leading players were backs Gary Smith (147) and Gary Nielson (185) and linemen Jim Grant (188) and Dick Brown (188).

None, "Hobby" feels, are of the caliber of Waupaca's Bill Suits. Haberkorn's and the Comets' current contribution to the present University of Wisconsin rivalry.

Suits is the only Haberkorn-coached fellow who ever earned a regular job in big college football. Dave Thompson and "Lefty" Fabricius were other Waupaca grid gifts to the UW but neither made the varsity grade.

Not on Par

Haberkorn doesn't consider the 1960 outfit on a par with the strong 1949, 1951 and 1955 outfits. He thinks the caliber of play in the CW this season was less strong than in previous years.

Haberkorn has been more faithful to Heselton's single wing attack than has Bernie himself. "I saw the Lawrence-Ripon game," said "Hobby," "and Bernie didn't use much single wing in that one. We changed our blocking on the formation a couple of years ago but now we've gone back to the original rules."

The Comets also use the winged-T.

Pitcher Hector Maestri and shortstop "Zorro" Versalles, stars of the 1959 Fox Cities Foxes who finished the 1960 season with the Washington Senators, both are playing in the Cuban Winter League.

Versalles is with the Mariano club and Maestri with Ciego de Avila.

Hector's first win was an 8-inning shutout relief job.

The Foxes' 1960 reliever, Dick Hunt, is back in Appleton and is looking for a job. Hunt's great relief work in August helped the Foxes win the Three I pennant.

The 1960 Lawrence College freshman football team had quite a collection of high school all-conference boys, team captains and most valuable players.

The group included backs: Carl Berghult, all-city and all-Olympic Chicago, all-city and all-northern Illinois; Bob Mueller, converted to rental facilities with Hartland, all-county, most valuable player, captain; Carter Nelson, Minneapolis, all-conference. Honored linemen were: tackle, Walt Chapman, Baraboo, captain, all-conference; end Dave Eschenbach, Baraboo, all-conference; end, Pat Jordan, Wauwatosa, all-conference; end Don Nichols, Chicago, honorable mention, all-conference; tackle Dave Telleam, Cambridge, all-conference; center Bill Reeves, Wisconsin Rapids, all-conference; end Gary Bayer, Neenah, all-conference; guard-tackle Paul Cromheecke, Beaver Dam, co-captain; center Steve Hansen, Waupaca, all-conference, co-captain.

End Bob Picard, Menominee, Mich., who was seriously hurt in the St. Norbert JV game, was an all-state end in high school. He played fresh ball last season at Milwaukee State.

Coach Gene Davis calls the '60 Viking frosh the best since the 1957 club, now Lawrence seniors. Less than one-fifth of the '57 outfit are still playing football at Lawrence.

This is a pivotal week in the Big Ten football title chase, with Purdue trying to upset undefeated Minnesota and Ohio State and Iowa battling each other to stay in championship contention.

The race could wind up with a co-champion. Minnesota, No. 1 in the AP poll, is 4-0 in Big Ten play with Purdue and Wisconsin remaining on its schedule.

Iowa, knocked off 27-10 by the Gophers last week, is 4-1 with only the Buckeyes remaining.

Ohio State, beaten only by Purdue (24-21), is 3-1 with Michigan remaining after the Hawkeyes.

One loss in its last two games would leave Minnesota with 5-1. Two more victories would leave Ohio State with the same. A triumph over the Buckeyes would give Iowa 5-1. The Hawkeyes close out next week at Notre Dame.

Are Favored

Ohio State and Minnesota are favored in their games Saturday. But of the two, the Gophers may be the best target for an upset.

The Boilermakers own the biggest surprise of the Big Ten season thus far — the spilling of Ohio State four weeks ago. Since then, however, they have lost to Iowa 21-14, Illinois 14-12 and Michigan State 17-13. They are strong enough in the line and versatile enough in the backfield to pull an upset.

Ohio State boasts the two leading yard gainers in the Big Ten — fullback Bob Ferguson and quarterback Tom Matie. Iowa's defense will have to be at its best to contain them. The game will be nationally televised.

In other games, Michigan State (2-2) winds up its conference campaign in a homecoming contest at Northwestern (1-3); Wisconsin (2-3) is at Illinois (1-3) and Indiana invades Michigan.

Dodgers, New LA Club Get OK on Use of Coliseum

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Both the Los Angeles Dodgers and the new American League team here have received approval of baseball dates in Memorial Coliseum for 1961.

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn said, after the Coliseum Commission meeting, that he believes the American League team may make the Coliseum its permanent home.

The Dodgers hope to be in their Chavez Ravine ballpark in 1962.

Mickey Thompson Seems to be Winning Fight With Paralysis

The 31-year-old El Monte, Calif., pilot, holder of the American land speed mark of 363.67 miles an hour, suffered a fractured vertebra and paralysis of his legs in a hydroplane accident on Lake Mead last Sunday.

For a brief time it was thought he might never walk again. Then his physician, Dr. John R. Connolly, detected a movement of Thompson's toes.

"I look for a complete recovery," said Dr. Connolly.

No Back Has Clinched an All-American Berth as Yet

NEW YORK (AP) — The race for honors in the 1960 All-American backfield is wide open.

Although there are plenty of sound, capable candidates, as of now, there are no real standouts.

What happens over the next three Saturdays will go far in determining the men AP's eight regional boards, each representing an NCAA district, will recommend for the first team.

Here are some of the more prominent candidates:

Jake Gibbs, Mississippi quarterback; Tom Matie, quarterback, and Bob Ferguson, fullback, both of Ohio State; Roman Gabriel, North Carolina State quarterback; Bill Kilmer, UCLA fullback; Joe Bellino, Navy fullback; Ronnie Baylor, Baylor fullback, and Pervis quarter-back; Keith Lincoln, Wash. Atkins, New Mexico State half-back; Oregon State halfback; Ernie Davis, Syracuse fullback; Tom Watkins, Iowa State fullback; Mel America team will not be made West, Missouri fullback; Jerry until after the games of Nov. 26. Hill, Wyoming, fullback; Lance Gibbs probably is as near to a Alworth, Arkansas fullback; and standout as there is today. He is Nolan Jones, Arizona State half-a great passer, runner, leader and back.

Whitewater State '11' League's Top Team In Offense, Defense

UNDEFEATED for two years in a row, Whitewater State was the Wisconsin State College Conference No. 1 team on offense with a total of 2,600 yards.

Statistics released by the conference Wednesday listed the loop champion Warhawks with 1,083 yards passing and 1,517 rushing. Whitewater was first in yards passing and third in rushing.

Stevens Point was first in rushing with 1,565 yards in seven games. Eau Claire was the runner-up at 1,542 yards in eight games.

In passing, River Falls followed Whitewater with 1,047 to 777 for third place Stevens Point.

Stevens Point was the No. 2 offensive team with 2,342 yards and Eau Claire came in third at 1,973 yards.

Whitewater held its opponents to only 749 yards, including a conference low of 204 by rushing, an average of 34 per game. La Crosse was second at 1,239 yards and Stout third with 1,433.

Tom McNeeley Would Like to Fight Moore

BOSTON (AP) — Tom McNeeley, undefeated Arlington, Mass. heavyweight, says he'd like to take a crack at old Archie Moore.

He'd like to, that is, if he gets by Idaho strongman George Logan in their 10-round battle Tuesday.

"This is a big fight for me," McNeeley said. "If I win, we'll try to get Archie Moore. You saw what happened to him in Italy. He's ready to be taken. More likes guys who lay back and let him set his own pace. I wouldn't do that."

Maris and 3-Year-Old Daughter Both to Have Their Tonsils Removed

RAYTOWN, Mo. (AP) — Three-year-old Susan Maris will have company when she has her tonsils removed next month.

Going through the same ordeal will be her daddy, Roger Maris. New York Yankee outfielder who earlier this week was named the most valuable player in the American League for 1960.

Maris has been troubled by a sore throat for the last several months and Thursday his physician recommended surgery.

"The doctor told me the only difference was she'd be over it in about three days and it might take me three weeks," the Yankee slugger said.

Conkey's Wins, 52-44, Over Slim Otto Five

Pond's, Merholz, Bleiers Also Post Major AAA Victories

Conkey's defeated Slim Otto's 52-44 in the Appleton Recreation Department's Major AAA League opening action Thursday night.

Conkey's won the Double A crown last season and some of the Slim Otto players were members of the Subway Bar club which captured triple A honors.

Don Bergman scored 13 to lead Conkey's while Orv Koepke tallied 16 for Slim Otto's. The losers led, 37-34, going into the final quarter.

Pond's dropped IPC, 55-34. Appleton High coach Dick Emanuel counted 19 for Pond's and his 1959-60 Terror star Ron Abel contributed 16.

Merholz thumped Unmuth's, 64-49. Dick Watson wired 25 for the victors. Tom Pfeiffer scored 17 to lead Unmuth's. Bleiers was a 60-53 winner over Fox Valley Cab, outscoring the losers, 11-4, in an overtime. "Bud" Koehnke hit 16 points for Bleiers' honors.

Emanuel Maps Program for ARD Cage Clinic

Twelve Appleton High School varsity basketball players will participate in Saturday morning's Appleton Recreation Department clinic at Madison Junior High. The season will begin at 9 a.m.

Coach Dick Emanuel will employ his squad to show the fundamentals of offense and defense, demonstrating such techniques as dribbling, shooting and pivoting.

The AHS guards, forwards and centers will then work in individual groups with younger boys interested in their particular positions. All age groups, from fourth grade on up, are being invited to attend the session.

The Terrors will also present a short demonstration scrimmage, and the ARD youngsters may also scrimmage among themselves.

Parents and coaches are also being invited by the ARD to attend.

Coach Gene Clark and his Xavier High School varsity will present the ARD's second cage clinic Saturday, Nov. 19, at Roosevelt Junior High.

Hopes of Wisconsin Democrats Blasted

Will be Minority in Legislature Instead of Expected Majority

Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — Democrats in the state legislature who had visions during the last campaign about undisputed control of the state law-making process are now sadly contemplating their return to the minority status in which most of them spent their apprentice years in the senate and assembly.

The Democratic minority blocs in both houses of the legislature will show some changes in leadership, because of reverses at the polls.

Missing in the lower house will be Keith Hardie, the Jackson county assemblyman who was the Democratic majority leader in the 1959 session. Hardie ran for the state senate this year, failed to win, and thus will not be a member of the 1961 session.

Probably stepping down into Hardie's position will be Assemblyman George Molinaro of Kenosha, who will surrender the speaker's gavel he held in the 1959 session to a Republican because of the GOP majority control in the assembly for the new session.

Senate Change

Flanking him will be one of the most seasoned of Democratic politicians in the legislature, veteran Assemblyman Robert Huber of West Allis, who was assistant majority leader and deputy speaker last year.

The state senate also will show some leadership changes on the Democratic side. Henry Maier, the Democratic minority whip in recent sessions, left last spring when he was elected mayor of Milwaukee.

Temporarily assigned to his place was Sen. William Moser of Milwaukee, because Sen. Horace Wilkie of Madison was ill at the time.

Wilkie is likely to be chief spokesman for the Democratic minority of 12, because he is a close associate of Democratic Gov. Gaylord Nelson. The governor will want and need a loyal and familiar floor spokesman during the expected tussles with the Republican majority which will be considerably revived in partisan spirit and political morale.

Hopes Shattered

Election reverses for Democrats were bitter pills. Scarcely a man among them doubted that they would hold their assembly control, and extend it to rule the senate also and thus to wipe out the Republican resistance that vetoed most of the Democratic administration's major and strategic proposals.

Most students of state politics regard the political composition of the legislature as the most reliable barometer of political leaning by the state electorate.

By that test Wisconsin has returned to the Republican fold. Republicans in the new legislature, moreover, will be led by a corps of tested and practiced politicians, unlikely to make any obvious mistakes in dealing with the Democratic governor.

Budget, Taxes

On the most prominent issues in state government and the most conspicuous problems in state affairs, the initiative must come from the governor. Nelson will be required to take the first stand, for example, on the question of state budgetary and taxation policy.

Under the law the responsibility for preparing the state budget is his. That budget will show a sizeable revenue deficit, according to all indications thus far. He is not explicitly responsible for devising a tax program for bridging the deficit, but he is in fact committed to such action because he was the creator of the tax revision commission which is expected to report soon and is publicly pledged to relay its recommendations if they are "reasonably palatable," as he put it.

Thus the Republican legislative majorities can sit back and wait for the Democratic governor to make the first moves on the most difficult issues in capital politics. They can appraise electoral reactions to propositions that will contain the issues on which the state campaign of 1962 will almost surely be fought.

Methodist Couples To Elect Officers

Autos Hit Headon On Highway Curve North of Brillion

CHILTON — Hilmer F. Kuchenbecker, 46, route 1, Brillion, sustained minor chest and mouth injuries about 6:50 a.m. Thursday when the car he was driving smashed headon into one driven by Allan R. Benzschawel, 23, also of route 1, Brillion, while rounding a curve on County Trunk PP about three miles north of Brillion.

Kuchenbecker told county police he was blinded by the sun, adding that his windshield was frosted hampering visibility as he approached the curve. The collision occurred in Benzschawel's lane of traffic, according to the police report.

At 12:50 p.m., Nov. 9, the car driven by Audrey Volp, 42, Stockbridge, was sideswiped by a vehicle driven by Berton H. Hoffmann, 61, route 1, Chilton, as the Volp car pulled from a parking place in the Stockbridge business district, county police said. Neither driver was injured.

Police Warn of Children in Railway Yards

LITTLE CHUTE — Village police have received complaints about children tampering with railroad cars located on sidings in the village resulting in an investigation by railroad detectives, according to S. W. Vandenberg, chief.

Youngsters have been setting brakes and loosening coupling pins, resulting sometimes in trains taking off and leaving cars behind although they were ready for reassignment, according to the chief.

He reminded parents that damage done on railroad property was a federal offense and asked their cooperation in keeping children from railroad yards. Besides getting into trouble, serious dangers exist on this property, indicated the chief.

Habits, Appearances, Deeds May Make One's Name Remembered

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Now that President-Elect Kennedy is readying to take over the highest office the nation can give him, it is interesting to wonder if it will also give his name to a word of the language. It has occurred rarely with our presidents, but even Tom, Dick and Harry of nowhere have somehow managed to do so idiomatically.

Only time will tell us, of course, but the opportunities for a — for example — Kennedian policy are ripe ones. Even personal habits or appearances of some persons have made their name a word in our language. The coil of Ambrose E. Burnside gave his name, somewhat altered, to a word—sideburns. And Col. James Bowie's name was given to the shape of a knife which he designed and wore.

Even an elephant named Jumbo gave his name into our language to mean anything huge, for there once was such a one. Ten feet tall and weighing 12,000 pounds, he was a startlingly big fellow. Perhaps it is not appropriate to fix such an elephantine title to a think piece on a Democratic president elect, but donkeys have a place in our language, too, though not with kind implications.

House

The word Pullman which specifies a kind of a sleeping car on a railroad was created on behalf of its inventor, George Pullman. And William Bowler gave his name to a kind of a hat, as did Stetson and the earl of Derby.

It is said — though I am unable to prove it—that a man named Monck gave his name for a tool of his invention, the monkey wrench.

Prince Albert gave us a name for the kind of a coat which he wore, and John L. McAdam's name appears in a road which he invented, macadam. Edward Morris invented the Morris chair and his name remains with it. A bold lady of long ago, Amelia Bloomer, affected those quaint trousers which ladies no longer wear but which were called bloomers after her.

A Greek herald who was known for his big voice became famous for making a verbal hubbaloob during the Trojan wars. As a result, "stentorian" means extremely loud.

A certain kind of a traitor is now known as a quising, and it is an admirable word which was needed in our language. Its position in our speech pays great dishonor to the man from whom it came, Vidkun Quisling. He was a Norwegian Nazi who opened his country to Hitler and won for himself the position of premier. The word means a kind of a traitor who toadies to the enemy. Quisling was executed in Oslo in 1945.

C of C Picks 3 Directors At Brillion

Membership Reaches Record High Total Of 63, Group Told

BRILLION — Louis Propp, Carroll Tikalsky and John Horn were elected directors of the Brillion Chamber of Commerce at a membership meeting Tuesday at Hotel Brillion. John Horn was re-elected and Propp and Tikalsky succeeded Milton Valleskey and Wilbert Behnke whose terms expired. Officers will be elected at a meeting in December.

Roland Hillmann, Robert Rofers, Glenn Schwalbe and Werner Arnhoelter are new members. President Earl Behnke said a record membership of 63 has been reached.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Brick, Two Rivers, who have purchased the Wieing Furniture Store building.

It was voted to hold six dinner meetings a year, with one to be designated Ladies Night.

Advertising Fund

Directors will look into the feasibility of an advertising fund from which contributions will be drawn for individuals or organizations soliciting donations.

Christmas stars erected on the water tower have been changed from neon tubing to heavy duty light bulbs to reduce maintenance costs. The stars are lighted annually during the holiday season as a project of the Chamber. Wilfred Gries and Carroll Tikalsky donated the labor involved in the changeover.

The new Brillion brochure was presented by Chairman Mel Koch. The brochure is a pictorial and word presentation of the assets of the community.

KAUKAUNA — Plans for the annual Christmas party, scheduled Dec. 14, were discussed at a meeting of the Elks Ladies Wednesday night.

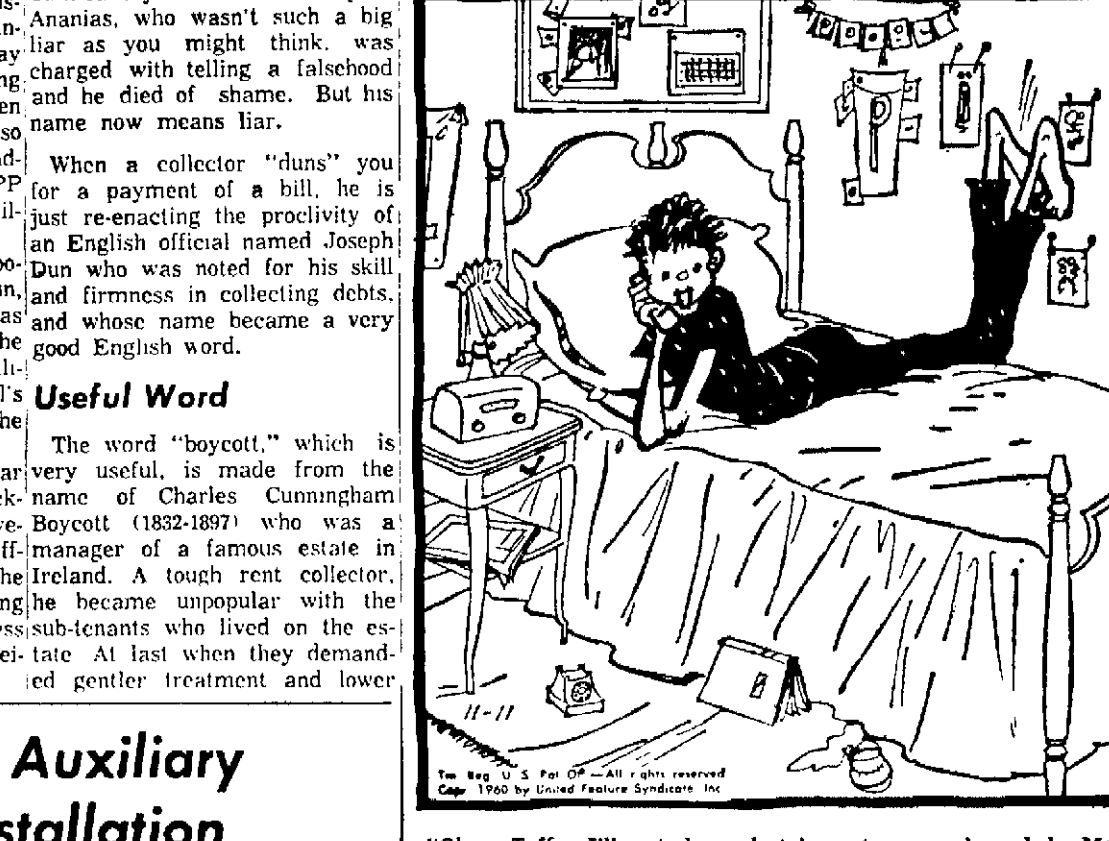

Hostesses were Mrs. Richard McCarty, Mrs. Robert Wolf, Mrs. Francis Cooney and Mrs. Carl Johnson. Prize winners were Mrs. Joseph Ditter, Mrs. Ray Jansen, Mrs. Art Koehne and Mrs. Richard Brandt.

But — though the list of names is very long — few presidents have given their name to a word. A certain kind of a Democrat may be termed "Jacksonian" after Old Hickory, and "Lincolnesque" means what you think it does. But beyond those, the presidential monickers have not readily named themselves so properly that his name be words. Though "Teddy bear" is long only in the history books said to have been named for the, and not in the dictionaries.

first President Roosevelt, it does not really qualify.

Perhaps, in considering all the things, it is better that the presidential monickers have not readily named themselves so properly that his name be words. Though "Teddy bear" is long only in the history books said to have been named for the, and not in the dictionaries.

Two Seek Post of Assembly Speaker

Blanchard, Haase Vie for Job Held by Democrat Last Year

Madison—A quiet and thoughtful Edgerton politician will probably land in the speaker's chair of the Wisconsin State Assembly as a result of the sweep of legislative seats in the elections by the Republicans.

David Blanchard, who will be celebrating his 40th birthday about the time the 1961 legislature convenes at the capitol, is the leading prospect for the speakership as a result of his rank and services as floorleader of the Republican minorities in the last two legislative sessions.

He will be opposed for the post by Assemblyman Robert Haase, 37-year-old Marinette lawyer, who is soliciting votes from returning and newly elected members of the 55-member house majority.

Haase has been one of the more active young Republicans in the Assembly and was an officer of the GOP minority last year. Two years ago he successfully sponsored a constitutional amendment permitting the state to participate in paying for local harbor and port improvements.

Blanchard, Haase and a small group of other relatively young men will have the responsibility of organizing the house that was under the dominance of Democrats last year. Blanchard and his colleagues have privately admitted they were surprised by the Republican triumphs in the legislative elections.

GOP Veterans
The State Senate has remained under Republican control without interruption since 1939. There will be no change in the leadership roster. Sen. Robert Travis of Platteville, floorleader in the last two sessions, will continue in that role. Sen. Frank Panzer of Dodge County will be returned to the senate presidency. Sen. Robert Knowles, brother of Lt. Gov.-elect Warren P. Knowles, will again be the assistant majority leader.

Park Board Denies Dues Check-Off

Union Agent Will Press Issue at December Session

Park Board commissioners have turned down a Teamster union request for dues check-off for park employees.

Robert Schlieve, Teamster business agent, met with commissioners to settle three controversial items in the proposed labor agreement, but succeeded on only two. He will meet with them again Dec. 14 to talk further for dues check-off.

Schlieve won his argument that men called out to work between 6 a.m. and 7 a.m. will receive a 15-cent-an-hour premium. The park board succeeded on its stand that only regular hourly rates will be paid, even if a man is required to work temporarily on a higher rated job.

'Collection Agency'
On dues check-off, commissioners said they didn't see why the park office should be the union's collection agency and do book-keeping for it. Schlieve said check-off is common practice.

The only time park men ordinarily are called to work early is for ice rink work in winters. Two men brush the ice early so the other men can flood the rinks right after they come to work at 7 a.m.

Slight Cost
The two men who brush the ice come in one hour early, so the premium pay amounts to 30 cents a day for about two months.

Schlieve eliminated the request for a higher rate of pay if a man is temporarily on a higher rated job. It was reported the number of times this happens is so small

Youth Dies Fiery Death

Mother, Brother Burned Trying to Save 18-Year-Old

Allen J. Vanden Heuvel, 18, route 2, Seymour, Thursday was turned into a flaming torch when his gasoline-soaked clothes caught fire after a tractor overturned. He died in about 10 minutes despite efforts of his mother and a younger brother to save him.

There are about 20 park employees in the union, and the labor pact is essentially the same as the one the city adopted for the street and sanitation departments and sewage treatment plant.

Ottagamie County Coroner Bernard Kemps said.

Vanden Heuvel returned the tractor to his home after having it serviced in Seymour. Shortly before noon, he made a u-turn in the farmyard and the tractor tipped on a slight rise. The youth was momentarily pinned under the tractor as gasoline spilled over and soaked his clothes. The fire started when the gasoline hit a hot manifold, setting Vanden Heuvel's clothes on fire.

'I'm All Right'
Mrs. Norbert Vanden Heuvel, 39, his mother, and a younger brother, Daniel, 12, heard Allen call "I'm all right now," as he freed himself from under the tractor.

Mrs. Vanden Heuvel and Daniel were burned, neither critically, when they attempted to help Allen. Both were taken to St. Vincent Hospital in Green Bay.

Without Management, Resources Never Would Become Production

NEENAH — "The manager is the dynamic, life-giving element in every business (and without him) the 'resources of production' remain resources and never become production."

So observed John R. Kimberly, chairman of the board of Kimberly-Clark Corp., Thursday night at the November meeting of the Fox Valley Chapter of the Society for the Advancement of Management. The meeting was at the Neenah-Menasha Elks Club.

Kimberly noted that "the word 'management' — by its inclusion of the two words 'manage' and 'men' in that order — defines the managing job at every echelon."

Have Map, Tool

"The management's organization plans and controls are merely guides or tools by which we motivate men to action. Without them, we move only by a sometimes faulty sense of direction. By their establishment, we have a map which directs us to specific goals and a tool by which to build roads to still greater economic performance and standards of living."

Kimberly told society members their function is concerned with initiating, developing and recommending objectives, policies and programs and with establishing, providing, directing and controlling those authorized. "Their scope is usually limited to a division, the North Western Railroad department, function or specialty," he said.

After tracing the development of Kimberly-Clark from its founding 88 years ago to its present status of 125th largest industry in the United States, he outlined the growth of the professional management class from the earlier owner-manager system as a result of industrial expansion.

The 11 elements of management employed by Kimberly-Clark are:

1. Determining and defining the objectives, with middle management initiating, developing and recommending corporate goals.
2. Recommending, interpreting and developing policies.
3. Integrating corporation programs so all corporate goals are achieved.
4. Organizing the work force so it can do its job and decentralizing as needed.
5. Supplying competent personnel to accomplish the assigned jobs.
6. Providing equipment and materials, by design, development or purchase, for manufacturing.
7. Financing the company's processes and making the firm turn a profit, in cooperation with top management.
8. Providing knowledge of the work to subordinates, as in training programs.
9. Actively directing to make sure the assigned work is being performed.
10. Setting performance standards and evaluating differences between the standards and actual performance.
11. Applying correction, not as disciplinary measures, but as needed changes to make what should be done and what is done coincide.

Scott Helein, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard R. Helein, 79 Lawson St., is reported in good condition at Theda Clark Hospital.

The boy was injured after running into the car driven by Mrs. Eleanor J. Hoelzel, 741 Winneconne Ave., Neenah, who was going south on Commercial Street near the North Western Railroad department, function or specialty" tracks.

She reported to police that she did not see the child, but only of Kimberly-Clark from its founding 88 years ago to its present status of 125th largest industry in the United States, he outlined the growth of the professional management class from the earlier owner-manager system as a result of industrial expansion.

Consolidation of 6 Rural Schools To Neenah Urged

Would Result in Tax Savings, State Study Report Outlines

NEENAH — Consolidation of the rural school districts now sending pupils to Neenah High School with the Neenah public school system was recommended to representatives of those districts at a meeting Thursday night at Neenah high school.

The recommendation was made by Clarence R. Wentland, supervisor of school district reorganization of the state department of public instruction.

He urged a thorough study of the consolidation idea by all of the districts involved and suggested that July 1 of next year might be a good time for such a reorganization. State law requires all rural schools not operating a high school district to be in a high school district by July 1, 1962.

County Values Buildings at Over $7 Million

Courthouse Listed For $1,710,000 Including Contents

OSHKOSH — Winnebago County owns buildings it values for fire insurance purposes at $7,033,995, according to the annual insurance report compiled by County Treasurer Earl E. Fuller.

The largest single item is the new county hospital and its contents which are valued for insurance at $2,505,185. The county home's value was placed at $1,056,200 and the farm property at $246,150.

The courthouse and its contents was given a value of $1,710,000, Sunny View Sanatorium was assigned a value of $541,100. The county park buildings were rated for insurance at $19,950. Highway department garages have a total value of $368,710.

The buildings at the fairgrounds were given a coverage for $241,200 and those at the airport a value of $344,000. The sheriff's home is insured for $8,000 and the fair secretary's house at $10,000. The radio transmitter building is listed for $3,500.

Man Bound Over on Non-Support Charge

OSHKOSH — Milan G. Brede, 27, whose address was given as General Delivery, Appleton, was bound over to plead at 2:30 p.m. today to a non-support charge.

He waived preliminary examination before Acting Municipal Judge Herbert J. Mueller this morning.

Brede was charged with failing to support his wife and one child, who live in Menasha since Aug. 1. Bond was set at $1,000.

"Where You Always Pay Less"

An Oshkosh Man, Roger Bean, 26, was killed and the driver, David W. Spomer, 24, Oshkosh, is in fair condition at Theda Clark Hospital in Neenah after Spomer's sports car went off County Trunk A four miles south of Neenah early this morning hit a pole and hurtled 150 feet, landing on its top. Bean, who was wearing a seat belt, was pinned in the car, parts of which were strewn over a 300-foot area along the road.

County Spends $86.29 a Week To Keep Patient in Sanatorium

OSHKOSH — Keeping a patient in the Sunny View Sanatorium costs Winnebago County $86.39 a week, according to Miss Agnes Mattson, superintendent, in her report to the county board.

This is a drop of $2.83 from the weekly cost average for the previous year.

The sanatorium is fully accredited for the next three years but it is difficult to comply with the recommendations set up by the Joint Commission on Accreditation, particularly the one about the number of registered nurses on duty during a 24-hour period.

If nurses were available, we would hire them, she reported.

Dr. V. G. Guenther, medical director at the sanatorium, added that the advanced age group so prevalent in the population here continues to pose a nursing problem.

There has been little need for surgery in these far advanced cases and one can only hope that a permanent use of drugs will permit them to return to their homes.

Cure is out of the question, he said, and this situation will presumably prevail for some time.

Menasha Man Charged With 11 Breakins

Admits Taking $513; Arrested by Green Bay Police

OSHKOSH — William Shirland, 22, 365 Ahnaip St., Menasha, is being held in the Winnebago County Jail pending arraignment later today or early Monday on 11 burglary charges and one attempted breakin.

Shirland, who moved to Menasha from Marshfield last January, upon questioning Wednesday by Deputy Sheriff Robert Berrell, Winnebago County, and Lt. Jack Zuelzke, Outagamie County, admitted taking about $513.30 in the breakins.

He was arrested Wednesday at Green Bay after he took two cigar boxes, filled with money, to a Green Bay bank, asking that they be converted into bills. He became impatient when the bank clerk delayed him, saying she would have to count the money by hand. He asked if there was a bank that had a machine for counting. She recommended another bank, and called police after he left. The Menasha man was arrested at the second bank.

Breakins Listed

One of the breakins was Oct. 30 at Al and Flo's Tavern, Neenah, four were during September at the Vice President Bar, just outside Oshkosh, two were in September at the Oasis Bar, Oshkosh, two at the Lakeshore Bar north of Oshkosh in August and November, one at the Valley Airways Nov. 5, new home total to 137 for the morning, at a tavern at Klinker's Corners, near Van Dyne, in Fond du Lac County.

In many cases, the money was taken from coin-operated machines. Cigars, peanuts and beer also were taken.

An attempted breakin Oct. 31 at the Hesser Supper Club, south of Oshkosh, was foiled when a burglar alarm sounded.

Shirland said he made the breakins because he needed money for payments on his car and room rent. He had been employed up to July at a Menasha paper mill. Most of the entries were made by breaking windows or doors.

'Pledge of Faith Week' was observed last week at Grace Lutheran Church, Winchester, with turkey dinners at a series of four meetings during the week at which members completed pledge cards for the coming year. The church budget was set at $41,892 and the American Lutheran Church budget at $10,044. The weekly budget was estimated at $805.64. Nearly 500 attended the dinners. Left to right are Mr. and Mrs. Arden Christianson and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Bogart. Mr. Christianson was visitation chairman and Mr. Bogart was general chairman of the program.

Two New Home Permits Issued

NEENAH — Two new home permits were issued in Neenah this week by Carlton Williams, building inspector, bringing the new home total to 137 for the year.

A new home and attached garage will be built on Hawthorne Street by the Robert W. Peters Construction Co. at a cost of $17,000. The house will be 28 by 44 feet and the garage 22 by 26 feet. A permit was issued to George Sturm for a $15,000 home and attached garage on Bridgewood Drive. The house will be 24 by 49 feet and the garage will be 20 by 24 feet.

Deer Killed

OSHKOSH — A deer was killed when it collided with a car driven by Norman Keats, Stevens Point, on Highway 110, east of Butte des Moris, at 10:30 p.m. Thursday.

4 New Home Permits Given; '60 Total 55

MENASHA — Four new home building permits were issued this week by Allen E. Merrill, raising the 1960 total to 55, compared to 47 on this date last year. Total permit valuation was $44,500. Robert Mueller received a permit for a 1½-story 34 by 28 foot frame home at 709 John St., in value of $10,000.

John Vishnevsky received authorization to build a 57 by 36 foot 1-story ranch home with attached garage at 1052 London St. Value was $14,500.

Bernie Valence, whose application to build a duplex at 915 London St., was denied Sept. 21 by the city council, will build a $10,000 ranch home with attached garage. The denial came after protest from area homeowners. Jake Obermeier will build a 62 by 33 foot $10,000 1-story home at 767 Pleasant Lane.

Campfire Building Sixth Grade Topic At Boys Brigade

NEENAH — How to prepare a camp fire and to cook a meal will be the project of the sixth grade Monday night at the Boys Brigade. Different types of campfires will be demonstrated.

On Tuesday night, ninth graders will give a demonstration of an olympic event. This is the climax to several weeks practice. Tenth graders, on the same night, will work on a unit on "How to Improve Myself."

Rail and bus transportation will be the subject for the eighth grade boys on Wednesday night. Seventh graders will review their hunter safety course Thursday night in preparation for an examination. The hunting and gun safety program extended over a four-week period.

OSC Professor Speaker On Historical Panel

OSHKOSH — Dr. Cooper Miller of the history department at Oshkosh State College will be among the speakers at the Saturday session of the Southern Historical Society in Tulsa, Okla. He will discuss "Hull, Wilson and Fiscal Policy" as part of a panel discussion on recent southern political leaders.

Agriculture Office Announces Estimated 1960 Crop Production

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Agriculture Department announced Thursday its estimated 1960 production figures for the following Wisconsin crops:

Corn—57 bushels per acre and production of 157,662,000 bushels. Cranberries—385,000 barrels. Tobacco—1,600 pounds per acre and production of 24,320,000 pounds.

The department said Type 54 Southern Wisconsin Cigar binder tobacco will be 9,600,000 pounds compared with 9,234,000 in 1959. Type 55 Northern Wisconsin was estimated at 14,720,000 pounds compared with 11,644,000 last year.

Church Parsonage To Be Remodeled For Sunday School

NEENAH — Plans have been completed to remodel the former parsonage at Whiting Memorial Baptist Church, Commercial and High Streets, for use as Sunday school classrooms and as meeting rooms.

Remodeling will include putting in an additional exit, walling in the furnace room and making the rooms more suitable for classes. The parsonage had been rented out since the new home was built three years ago.

Judge Orders Youth's License Restored

OSHKOSH — Circuit Judge Myron Gordon, Milwaukee, Thursday upheld the fine imposed by Acting Municipal Judge Floyd D. Atherton earlier this year on Phillip Koller, 18, 221 Prospect St., Appleton, but restored Koller's driver's license to him.

The youth had been fined $125 and costs and his license revoked for a year after he pleaded guilty of speeding 95 miles an hour in a 55 mile per hour zone. He was arrested April 6 at the intersection of Highways 114 and 41. He appealed the revocation to Circuit Court.

Neenah Story Hour

NEENAH — "Little Bear" by E. L. Munarik; "Noises in the Night" by Ann Alexander, and Miss Lois Klumeyer, county "The Radish Cure" from "Mrs. Pigglegiggles" by Betty McDonald, will be told at the Neenah Library story hour at 10 a.m. Saturday. Mrs. Clarence Bredendick will be the story teller.

the reports of each school district, such a consolidation would mean a tax reduction from all but one of the districts, that district being Spring Road.

He pointed out the two ways for such a consolidation. One is the joint school district where the city council and the town chairmen must approve the budget, each voting on a proportional representation of one vote for each $200,000 of equalized valuation.

The other is the unified system where the school board sets the budget and holds public hearing for all those in the school district. A referendum is required if any money is to be borrowed or bonds floated. The school board in this case is elected from the district at large.

Savings Told

Wentland, in his study report, indicated that based on the 1959 school property tax levies there would be a savings of about $56,100 while state school aids would increase by about $10,139.

"The Winnebago County high school tuition tax rate of $3.92 which is presently paid by the suburban area indicates that the suburban area has more than average equalized property value per high school student for the county and as a result this suburban area is paying more than the amount which would be due the City of Neenah in high school tuition," Wentland said.

He also pointed out that for every $100,000 of new building investment spread over a 20-year period at 4 per cent interest, the average school property tax would increase about 5 cents per $1,000 of equalized value.

Wentland also outlined a three-fold educational benefit as the result of a consolidation. It would upgrade the services to the elementary schools by adding kindergarten, special education, art, music and library facilities to those not now having them. It would coordinate supervision and administration of all the schools under a single school board and further provide for continuity in program planning and improved learning experiences for the children.

The students also would improve the quality of learning at Neenah High School by being better prepared when they enroll. Each would have the same preparation in the elementary schools.

Garbage Routes In Effect Monday, Says City Official

MENASHA — New routes for collections of burnable waste materials will go into effect next week, Health Officer H. O. Haugh reminded today.

The routes were shown on a city map in Monday's edition of the Post-Crescent.

In many cases, garbage collection days will be changed. Non-burnable collection days will remain Wednesdays, except when legal holidays occur in the week. Each Wednesday, sanitation crews will pick up in two for the former districts.

YW Club to See Demonstration on Yule Decorations

NEENAH — A demonstration and talk on decorations for the holiday season will be given by Mrs. home agent, at the 8 p.m. Tuesday program of Y Wives Club at the YWCA.

Heading the tea committee are Mrs. Arthur Chase and Mrs. Herman Adler.

Two Former Postmasters of Menasha were at Thursday's Menasha Historical Society meeting, one to tell of the federal agency's local history. Shown with the sign that marked the site of the first post office at the 1953 Menasha centennial celebration were John Backes, left, and Joseph Coyle. Backes, who retired July 31, described Menasha's postal service since the earliest days. He was named postmaster May 4, 1954, and took office Aug. 1 of that year. Coyle became postmaster Sept. 1, 1936, and retired Aug. 31, 1951.

UW Prints New Booklet On Selection of Meats

OSHKOSH — One of the most recent bulletins printed by the University of Wisconsin extension division is "Wise Food Buying of Meats, Poultry and Eggs." Suggestions for buying each are given.

Listed as guides for buying meat are identifying each cut and its use, matching grade to cooking methods and looking for the inspection stamp. The tender cuts are quicker to prepare, may be cooked by dry heat and cost more. The less tender cuts take longer to prepare, are cooked by moist heat and cost much less.

A consumer considers the cost per serving in determining meat purchases and the amount of edible meat obtained from each cut. If one will buy by grade, this will help to determine cooking time and method best suited to the quality and cut.

The various grades for beef are prime, choice, good, standard, commercial and utility. Veal, lamb and mutton are federally graded and stamped with the name of the kind of meat. The "U.S. Inspected and Pass-

Also attending the meeting were Mrs. Esther Leister, Milwaukee, department treasurer, and Mrs. Ruth Hirtz, Appleton, department executive board member.

A Veterans Day program included a reading, "I Am Old Glory," by Mrs. Oliver Olson.

Hostess for the Nov. 21 Aids meeting will be Mrs. Harry Smith. Mrs. Phil Grode will be hostess Women's Relief Corps held its annual inspection Thursday with meeting will be Dec. 8.

Slim Gourmet Tells How; Take It Off, Keep It Off

NEENAH — With so many commercial diet preparations flooding the market, friends are exchanging recipes for flavoring these ways of eating. ## PTA Unit Plans Six Programs

NEENAH — Spring Road Par- ent-Teacher Association opened its season with a harvest carnival and has scheduled six programs for the academic year. The first, an education panel discussion, was held Monday.

Henry A. Olson, superintendent of secondary school reorganization of the Wisconsin department of public instruction, will discuss the school redistricting proposal at the Jan. 9 meeting.

A "parents fun night" has been scheduled for Feb. 6. Sam Bird, down the aisles, looking only at physical education instructor, will ing only the item that we ate yes- begin with a potluck dinner.

"Special Education" will be the theme of the March 6 meeting novelty of other items are lost as with the challenge of educating exceptional children to be discus- sed by Melton C. Martinson, su- perintendent of classes for ex- ceptional children of the bureau of handicapped children.

Officers will be elected at the April 10 meeting. A musical pro- gram will be given. A teacher ap- preciation dinner and student award night, May 1, will end the season. New PTA officers will be installed.

Officers of the unit are John Wilson, president; Thomas Ralph, vice president; Mrs. E. R. Davis, secretary; and Ken Voiss, treas- urer. Standing committee chair- men are Mrs. D. J. Bartel, mem- bership; Mrs. L. W. Larsen, hos- pitality; Mrs. C. A. Peters, tele- phone; and Mrs. Henry Bicker- staff, publicity.

I began to observe my own ways of eating. And I made a remarkable discovery. I had always been under the impression that secret formulae handed down I was, overeating very heavily, from seventh son to seventh son. When I took inventory of my ac-

"Now it is not dangerous to eat one extra roll every day."

Wonder Diets

He goes on to say, "Most of the so-called wonder diets are medi- cally and nutritionally correct, and can be followed comfortably enough under hospital conditions. The trouble comes when we ap- ply them to our day-to-day living, eating at the family table, work- ing in offices and factories, follow- ing familiar habits. . . . Man does not eat for calories alone? Meal- time is a time for relaxation, for companionship, for communica- tion with our fellow human be- ings. Mealtime is also a time for enjoyment of food itself.

According to Lederman the slim gourmet enjoys his food. "When you enjoy your food you eat less. At those times when you are inattentive to what you eat, you eat too much. If you do not be- lieve this, test yourself. You will find that boredom makes gluttons of us all."

Philosophy

In summing up his philosophy he says most people eat not what they like, but what they are used to. Food habits are formed in childhood and are not easily broken. A trip to the supermarket with its thousands of items could add variety, interest and novelty to the gourmet's menu. But does the shopper look? "Alas, we go up and down the aisles, looking only at the shopping list in our hand, pick- ing only the item that we ate yes- terday and are lacking today."

The variety, the interest and the novelty of other items are lost as with the challenge of educating exceptional children to be discussed by Melton C. Martinson, su- perintendent of classes for ex- ceptional children of the bureau of handicapped children.

Lederman's book goes into de- tails of universal interest, such as number of calories required per pound to maintain weight, or to lose weight at various rates of he also explodes a few theor- ies. Many homemakers believe a one-dish meal is practical because people eat less and lose weight if there is one dish and they have no choice. This is not borne out by experience, Lederman says. The less choice there is on the table, the bigger the portions and the more second helpings.

The slim gourmet eats a varie- ty of foods, in smaller portions, He suggests that each person find their own "personal portion" size and stick to it.

The 'Harvest' Theme of Spring Road School Parent-Teacher Association's recent carnival was carried out both in decorations and activities with Indian corn and pumpkins, hay rides, home canned goods and caramel apples. Booths featured bakery goods and bazaar items. The excitement of the carnival proved too much for 10-month old Steven Olson, above. His mother, Mrs. Dale Olson, holds her tired son and a handful of unused tickets. At upper right, Chuck Bickerstaff's hat flies into the air as he nears the finish line in a sack race. The tumbling competitor and the girl are unidentified. Popcorn, part of any carnival, is enjoyed by Larry Simons, lower left. ## AAUW Lists Year's Calendar

NEENAH — Its program calen- Appleton, assisted by Mrs. Paul Hollinger, piano, and Mrs. John Helms, cello. Chairman of the committee making dinner arrange- ments will be Mrs. Robert De-

sity, as guest speaker. In November, the branch will hear a discussion on the North- western University study of the fall months and the annual tea for new women teachers in Menasha and Menasha and wives of new men teachers took place recently at the YWCA.

On Sunday the branch honored Miss Sylvia Barreto, foreign ex- change student at Neenah High School, at a tea. Foreign students and aims and to help members from Oshkosh State College and become better acquainted, will be held Jan. 24. The meetings will be set up on a residential area basis and hostesses will be Mrs. A. P. Engebretson, Mrs. Kenneth Houts, Mrs. T. H. Perry, Mrs. S. N. Pickard, Mrs. Paul Zimmerman and Mrs. R. E. Risley.

On Feb. 28, a panel will discuss the topic, "Meeting the Needs of Our Aging Population," a topic within the field of social and econ- omic issues for study by the AA- UW. Dr. Patricia Lanier, Green Bay, chairman of this area for the Wisconsin division of AAUW, will be moderator. Participants will be Dr. William Hildebrand, the Rev. L. Clarence Kelley and Konrad Tuchscherer. Tea commit- tee chairman will be Mrs. Irma Kyle.

Church Society Will Receive New Charter

NEENAH — St. Margaret Ma- ry Christian Mothers and Altar Society will receive its charter at a special meeting for all mem- bers at 7:30 p.m. Monday. Com- mittee appointments for the new organization will be announced. Arrangements for a Dec. 4 food and gift sale will be completed. The Rev. Justin Werner is spiri- tual director of the society.

Freezing Laundry Can Damage Fibers

NEENAH — Does it hurt if clothes freeze on the line? Re- peated freezing of laundry hung out to dry can damage the fabric, home economists say. The water break the fiber when it freezes. In a brisk breeze the clothes will snap and crack as they whip back and forth and this does even more damage. In freezing tem- peratures it is better to hang feature a program of violin music on the clothes to hasten the drying.

Russian Tour

The program will be announ- ced later for the March 28 meeting when Mrs. Stanton Charlton will head the hostess committee. The members will hear out to dry can damage the fabric, Miss Sylvia Leonard, Milwaukee, home economists say. The water break the fiber when it freezes. In a brisk breeze the clothes will snap and crack as they whip back and forth and this does even more damage. St. Norbert Concert Series Opens Nov. 17

Italian Societa Corelli, String Ensemble, to Give First Program

The Nov. 17 appearance of the Societa Corelli, 13-musician string ensemble, will open the Fine Arts Concert series at St. Norbert College.

Three concerts will be given this season, all at 8:15 p.m. at Pennington Auditorium on the college campus at DePere. The other two concerts and their dates include the Chicago Little Symphony under Thor Johnson on Dec. 9 and the Collegium Musicum, a chamber music organization, Jan. 17.

The Societa Corelli, comprised of Italian musicians now on their fifth tour of the United States, is named for Arcangelo Corelli, a 17th-century Italian composer. The group, led by solo cellist Silvano Zuccarini, will play works by Corelli, Vivaldi, Bach, and others.

2 Years Old

Thor Johnson began the Chicago Little Symphony two years ago to play the compositions of Haydn, Respighi, and others who wrote music for miniature symphony orchestras.

The six-man Collegium Musicum specializes in medieval, renaissance, and early baroque music and utilizes largely forgotten instruments and techniques to approach as closely as possible a musically authentic program. It is directed by Dr. George Hunter of the University of Illinois.

Season tickets may be obtained by mail order from the St. Norbert Music Department. Tickets also will be sold at the door before each concert.

'Omnibus' to Return With Alistair Cooke

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The big event of the television week is the return — to NBC — of "Omnibus" to the Sunday afternoon schedules after the absence of a season.

The first program (5-6 p.m.) will be entirely devoted to an examination of the institution of the American presidency, called "He Shall Have Power," and starring Larry Blyden and Harry Townes. Alistair Cooke will be back in his familiar role as host.

Also on Sunday there will be an hour-long special on CBS (9-10 p.m.) which sounds promising: "The Influential Americans," a report on educational experiments in progress designed to benefit the gifted child.

E. Phillips Oppenheim's 1920 novel, "The Great Impersonation," has been adapted into a hour-long drama for Tuesday night's NBC hour of great mysteries show, with Eva Gabor in an important part. On Wednesday night, CBS' show of the month is an adaptation of "Heaven Can Wait" (9-10:11) with Robert Morley, Anthony Franciosa, Wally Cox and Joey Bishop.

NBC continues its extraordinary devotion to ice shows Thursday. It's "Wonderland on Ice" (7-8:30) with Efrim Zimbalist Jr. (of "77 Sunset Strip") in his first guest shot on a special show.

Lieutenant Governor Has Indirect Hand in Pre-Inauguration Work

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Wilson Wyatt will have an indirect hand in President-Elect John F. Kennedy's pre-inauguration program.

Wyatt said Wednesday that a Kennedy aide has asked for a copy of a book Wyatt wrote in 1956 at the request of Adlai Stevenson. Wyatt was Stevenson's campaign manager in 1952 and his personal adviser in 1956.

The book recommends times, methods for selecting aides, handling budget and foreign-military affairs, and other matters in the three-month period between the election of a president and his inauguration.

Walter Winchell Has Bone Infection, Has To Leave Weekly Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Because of a lingering bone infection in his jaw, Walter Winchell has won release from his contract to appear on ABC-TV's "The Walter Winchell Show." ABC said yesterday Winchell had appeared in the first two showings of the weekly program last month, but guests had filled in for him since.

Vatican Sees No Rift In Communist Bloc

VATICAN CITY (AP) — L'Osservatore Romano warned Thursday against what it described as illusions that the Soviet-Chinese Communist front might be weakening.

The Vatican newspaper, commenting upon the current Communist meeting at the Kremlin, noted that some of the world press expressed doubt about the continuing cooperation of the two great red powers — Soviet Russia and China. Said L'Osservatore:

"The perspectives being advanced about the possible weakening of the combativeness and united drive of the Communist bloc appear to be vain and deprived of foundation. More than anything else, it is an illusion that is very dangerous and that could lead to grave errors and produce very bitter fruit."

Boris Karloff Marks 50th Year as Actor

Type Casting No Worry for Him, Made Him Famous

BY BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Arriving at his 50th year as an actor, Boris Karloff has this to say:

"It's amazing! Imagine me, at my age—73—still active in my profession and commuting 12,000 miles to work! I must be the luckiest man in the world."

That's Karloff, one of Hollywood's nicest paradoxes. The archetype of horror ever since he played the tall-browed monster in "Frankenstein," he has remained the gentlest of gentlemen. I caught him in a reflective mood out at Universal Studios.

His reflection was not due to his golden anniversary as an actor, which he mentioned only casually. He reminisced because he was working on the Phantom Stage, so named because "Phantom of the Opera" was filmed on it.

Many Memories

"I worked on this stage many a time," he recalled. "Most of the 'Frankensteins' were shot on State 12, but some of the scenes were done on the Phantom Stage. This lot holds many memories for me."

I wondered if all the memories were pleasant ones. After all, he was and is a polished performer, yet the general public sees him in the image of the hulking, brainless monster.

"Me worry about type casting?" he asked. "Good heavens, no! The monster was the best friend I ever had. I only played him three times, so I wasn't stuck with him."

His Trade Mark

"Certainly I was typed. But what is typing? It is a trade mark, a means by which the public recognizes you. Actors work all their lives to achieve that. Companies spend millions of dollars to establish trade marks. I got mine with just one picture. It was a blessing."

The Karloff trade mark made him the logical candidate to host the new NBC series, "Thriller." To perform his duties, he engages in a rigorous schedule for any person, much less a 73-year-old. He lives in London, works in Hollywood.

After living 50 years in the New World, Karloff has returned to live in his native land.

Karloff left England in 1909, eager for an acting career in the land of the family tradition in civil service. He started in amateur theatricals in western Canada, came to Hollywood in 1919.

"But my presence here was a well-kept secret until 1931."

That was the year of "Frankenstein" and the making of him.

Merrill to Narrate Churchill Memoirs

NEW YORK (AP)—Gary Merrill has been signed for the narration of ABC's upcoming series based on the memoirs of Winston Churchill.

Former Queen Saroya of Iran and actor Hugh O'Brien, TV's Wyatt Earp, leave the Sands Hotel in Las Vegas for a sightseeing trip to nearby Hoover Dam. Both are vacationing at the Nevada resort.

Actress Jane Withers Thinks Her Childhood Wonderful

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jane Withers believes the popular notion that child film stars grow up to be neurotic, bitter and broke.

She is none of those. Easing gently into character roles at 34 (actually she has been playing characters all her life), she retains the same buoyant attitude she had as a bob-haired young star.

"A lot of people say to me, 'Isn't it a shame you never had a normal childhood?' Jane retorts. "Nonsense! I had the most wonderful childhood any girl could imagine. I was 10 years at Fox, from 8 to 18, and I remember them as great years, full of fine memories."

She is now enjoying a sentimental journey back to the home grounds of her childhood. She is playing a wisecracking photographer in "The Right Approach." What makes the return all the more exciting for her is that she is being directed by David Butler.

"Mr. Butler gave me my first job in pictures," she recalled. "That was when my mother and I sneaked onto Fox lot. Back home in Atlanta, Ga., I had been on radio since I was 2. I had my own program at 3, billed as 'Dixie's Dainty Dewdrop,' if you can imagine. My mother brought me out to Hollywood, convinced that I would set the town on fire."

"After we sneaked on the lot, we found out about an audition for kids to play in 'Handle With Care.' All of us were lined up and Mr. Butler went down the line and picked out me."

She was 6 at the time, and the movies weren't ready for her. But a couple of years later Butler again picked Jane to play the mean little kid with Shirley Temple in "Bright Eyes." The film made her a star.

Your Money's Worth It's Time to Figure Tax on 1960 Profit

BY SYLVIA PORTER

If you have taken gains or losses on your stocks during 1960's violently fluctuating stock market, the time has come for you to plan to cut to a minimum the tax you owe on your profits, raise to a maximum tax savings on your losses.

You have 50 days left before the end of the year in which to do this. List all the securities you have sold in 1960, calculate your short and long-term gains or losses on them. In the next few weeks, you should consult with your broker, lawyer or accountant on what additional moves it might be wise for you to make for tax savings purposes now or in the future.

If in 1960 you have sold a stock at a profit, you have a long-term capital gain which will be taxed at no more than a 25 per cent rate.

Tax Rate Varies

The 25 per cent rate is the maximum, because first you cut the amount of your gain in half before you apply your regular tax rate and this half can't be taxed at more than 50 per cent. You may pay less than 25 per cent if your top tax bracket is under 50 per cent.

If in 1960 you have sold at a profit a stock you held six months or less, you have a short-term gain which is fully taxable at the regular rate applying to your ordinary income.

If in 1960 you have sold a stock at a loss, the time you held it doesn't matter. Short or long term, the loss may be used to offset any capital gains and up to $1,000 of your ordinary income in 1960. And you can "carry forward" losses above $1,000 to offset any gains and up to $1,000 of ordinary income a year through 1965.

1960 Gains

Only short-term gains in 1960... It would be to your tax advantage to take losses you now have, for these losses will offset your gains and save taxes at the rates applying to your ordinary income.

Only long-term gains in 1960... It would be to your tax advantage to avoid taking losses during the balance of the year and to postpone these losses to 1961 or later. For you must apply such losses before you make the 50 per cent cut in your capital gains, and thus these losses get only 50 per cent recognition.

Both long and short-term gains in 1960... You should avoid taking any long-term losses during the rest of the year because they would be only 50 per cent effective in cutting your taxes. But you might take short-term losses up the amount of your short-term gains because they'll reduce your taxes at the full ordinary income rates.

Computing Losses

Only short-term losses in 1960... From a tax viewpoint, you need do nothing more. You can use your losses up to $1,000 to cut your ordinary income in 1960 and use any excess in 1961 and through 1965. Your short-term losses will be a tax advantage if you want to take some capital gains in these weeks, though. You also might decide to add to your losses beyond $1,000 so you have them to apply against ordinary income in future years.

Only long-term losses in 1960... The same rules that apply to short-term losses apply here. You may choose to do nothing more, or to realize short-term gains to be offset by these losses, or to realize other losses to be carried forward for future years.

Both long-term gains and short-term losses... You might take short-term gains to balance against your short-term losses. Your long-term gains still will be taxed at no more than 25 per cent.

To handle securities investments intelligently, know the tax as well as the basic investment rules. A trustworthy financial, legal or accounting adviser will help.

Board Probes County Hospital

Reaches No Conclusions, but Hears a Lot About Accounting

The Outagamie County Board delivered into accounting, institutional business practice, fiscal years and several other subjects Thursday afternoon.

Subject was the Outagamie County Hospital. Point of the discussion was not defined. There was no action on the two-hour discussion, although board members heard a great deal about the technical aspects of bookkeeping and accounting.

Appleton Supv. Eugene Kloes, drew up a series of comparisons indicating the per-patient cost at the county hospital is considerably above the state average. The hospital as a consequence, is losing money, he said.

Different Years

Part of the difficulty which the board faces—as the Appleton Taxpayers Association pointed out early in this budget session—is that the hospital runs on a fiscal year ending June 30, while the county's financial year is a calendar year ending Dec. 31.

As a consequence and because state payments of aid run at least six months behind actual county payments, the county finances the hospital. The hospital is a separate unit of county government operated by its trustees, not by the county board. The board is ultimately responsible for the hospital, but not its operating policies.

Costs Compared

In the 1957-58 fiscal year, the Outagamie hospital's patient cost per week was $21.09, the state average $20.18, a difference of 91 cents. In 1958-59, the hospital cost was $30.59, the average $21.86, and in 1959-60, the hospital cost was $34.41, the average $23.45, Kloes said. The last figures are tentative.

State Charges

In addition, the county has been adding personnel and upgrading personnel in view of the state's move to hike requirements drastically, Norbert Loeke, superintendent said. In a Madison hearing today, the state will set final standards for hospitals, all considerably higher than those in effect today.

Hospitals which haven't started upgrading personnel show a lower cost and cut down the average state cost to Outagamie Hospital's detriment, he added. However, when the new requirements go into effect, the state average will increase. Also, the Outagamie Hospital is completed and its operating difficulties are over as far as construction are concerned.

County Tax Levy Slightly Under '60

Some of its member municipalities will total well over $16 million next year.

Cost to Units

Distribution of the levy to member towns, villages and cities will be done by County Clerk Mollie E. Pfeiffer next week. Appleton, which pays about 51 percent of the levy, will get its bill Monday and will set the city tax rate and budget Tuesday night.

Not Really Cash

The county's books show several million dollars in the general fund but these dollars are book assets and not cash. Board Chairman Alvin Fulmer warned the board that the county was short of cash and would probably have to borrow before the end of the year in order to pay its bills in cash.

Delved Deep

The county board this year probably delved deeper into its fiscal problems than it has for years. Partly due to the Appleton Taxpayers Association's interest in county affairs, the delving revealed primarily that the actual position of the county in a financial sense is immensely difficult to determine and very complicated.

More Study

It is this function which the taxpayers indicated they would like to investigate to see just how much money the county needs to perform this function.

Study Departments

Supervisors also put off for some time a move to abolish the undersheriff's job and make it a civil service position with the rank of lieutenant. The undersheriff is appointed by the sheriff. Involved in delay of the move is a complete study of the sheriff and county police departments. The survey is not particularly directed at combining them, but naturally will consider it.

Such a move is becoming more and more the bone of contention between county police and sheriff departments throughout the state.

Committee members are Gerald Luedtke publicity Otto Bvot programming business session Norbert Derrindinger, social Leo Murphy, oratorical Al Fraser finance and budget, Franklin Eice reservations and meals Otto Bytof and George Leary are co-chairmen.

4 Young Men Convicted of Theft Charges

Took Loot From Tavern, Parked Car at Oneida

GREEN BAY — Four young men, two from the Oneida area and two from Milwaukee, were convicted Thursday in municipal court for burglary of the White Eagle tavern at Oneida early Sunday and for thefts from a parked car.

Ronald L. Skenandore, 20, and Spencer W. Cornelius, 18, both of West De Pere, and Thomas G. Brunette, 18, and Dewayne W. Hammer, 18, both of Milwaukee, pleaded guilty to the two charges before Judge Donald W. Gleason.

Returned to Jail

Brunette and Hammer were returned to the county jail to await sentencing when they did not furnish $1,000 bond each and Skenandore and Vornelius were released on $1,000 bond each.

In a companion trial, Miss Gerald R. Skenandore, 18, Milwaukee, a sister of Ronald, was convicted of receiving stolen property. Sentencing was withheld and she was placed on probation in custody of her mother, Mrs. Lester Skenandore, West De Pere.

The quartet visited a beer bar in Green Bay Saturday night, another tavern at Howard and then a dance in the Town of Hobart until 1 a.m., according to statements given to Sheriff Artley Skenandore.

Driving in Brunette's car they then came upon a parked car with a sleeping driver, Roman H. Dovtator, Oneida, on County Highway E. The boys, according to written statements given to authorities and to testimony by Lt. Jack Zuelke of Outagamie County, took 10 baseball bats, a mask, a chest protector, seven baseball gloves, a box of 12 gauge shotgun shells, a spare tire and wheel from the car and Dovtator's wallet containing $12 and his eyeglasses.

$50 in Cash

The boys then drove to the White Eagle tavern at Oneida, where Roland gained entry through an unlatched washroom window and passed loot out to Spencer. The burglary at the tavern, according to testimony by Mrs. Shirley Parker, the proprietor, netted the four young men 12 bottles of liquor, 12 other partially filled bottles from the back

4-H Program Helps Build Better Citizens

'To Make Best Better' Motto
Embodies Objectives of Club
Work in Projects, Achievements

BY COURTNEY SCHWERTZ

Outagamie County 4-H Agent

To Make the Best Better is the motto of 4-H club work. It encompasses many objectives.

Four-H members long have realized they become better citizens through their program. Goals reached along the line all are aimed at this objective. Each project, each activity and each experience in itself helps promote the growth of becoming more useful citizens.

Good citizenship to 4-H members not only increases interest, understanding and knowledge of the responsibilities of a citizen, but also the development of these abilities.

This development is accomplished through planned activity as individuals and as groups. Each project may have an end in itself but the final objective is still becoming better citizens for tomorrow.

Club work involves, camps, fairs, project work, recreation, community service, drama, music and tours. Each of these tasks involves working with others to accomplish it. Each member has an opportunity of learning to cooperate with others.

Club Programs

Club programs provide an opportunity for each person to reach maximum growth by giving him a sense of belonging and an awareness of his responsibilities. As members plan and execute their project work and activities, they always find new challenges. Each challenge surmounted helps build character and citizenship.

"Our young people aren't so bad; it's just that they have more critics than models. I hope we'll keep in mind what I consider the most basic thing in 4-H Club Work and that's the building of character and citizenship," Ezra Taft Benson, secretary of agriculture, said.

Work in 4-H is not only a character building process, but one of physical growth.

Learn, Live, Serve

The 10-year-old boy or girl garbed in wrinkled levis, scuffed shoes and a pulled-out-at-the-waist shirt on club achievement night is a different person eight years later. A girl is dressed in her best finery, the boy in his well pressed suit.

Work in 4-H has taught them basic qualities of hygiene, showed them how to and how not to dress. Association with other youth has sharpened their awareness of things around them.

Live, learn, serve through 4-H embodies all aspects of the resulting work of head, heart, health and hands.

and understanding helps to mold the citizen of tomorrow.

No progress can be made, however, without services afforded by club leaders, the thousands of parents and friends of 4-H who give their time to working with youth.

Join a 4-H Club.

Canning First Girl Project In Program

Corn Clubs Follow
In 1910 for Boys
As 4-H Forerunners

Tomato canning clubs were the first "girl projects" in 4-H, following closely on the heels of corn clubs established in 1910 for boys. These clubs were the forerunner of the present day 4-H educational program now benefiting some 2.1 million rural and urban youth.

This year marks the 50th anniversary of the 4-H canning club, and the 150th anniversary of the discovery of a successful canning process. Methods and utensils have changed, but the end product remains the same. Young homemakers as well as experienced ones strive to turn out sparkling, wholesome, nutritious jars of food which can be stored for safe eating later on.

The modern 4-H canning program — like its predecessor emphasizes home grown food preservation as a means to improve the family diet. The 4-H "learn by doing" method stresses importance of using bacteria-free products and utensils to guard against spoilage and possible food poisoning.

Back in the early 1900's, 4-H girls demonstrated canning skills and exhibited their products in competition with others.

A 4-H Flag and An American Flag form the background in this picture. The two also are symbols of the aims of the 4-H Club program. Parts of the clover with Hs for Head, Heart, Health and Hands represent ways club members can achieve. Good citizenship, end product of club work, is represented by the American flag. Norbert Stingle, Appleton, and Jean Ann Kroner, Seymour, are outstanding youth leaders in the program in Outagamie County. Four-H clubs throughout the Fox Cities area are observing national Join a 4-H Club Week Nov. 13 through 19.

25 Years Service To Co-op Lauded

NICHOLS — Barney Clikowski, a member of the Nichols Co-op Association staff, was awarded a 25-year plaque and a gold watch for his service to the co-op during its annual meeting.

Herman Krojeck, Farmers Union Central Exchange representative and speaker of the event. The co-op board of directors gave Clikowski the watch.

Elected to the board of directors was Cyril Letters. He replaces Robert Brugger whose term expired. Marvin Krull was reelected to the board.

Hobart 4-H Club To Entertain Parents

ROYALTON — The Hobart 4-H Club will entertain its parents and leaders at a meeting at the Donovan Ritchie home Thursday. A short business session will follow the program. Any children who will be 10 years of age by Jan. 1, 1961, are eligible to join the club.

The Baldwins Mills 4-H Club will meet at the school house Monday evening. Each member has been asked to bring a prospective member for 4-H work.

Miss Evelyn Kapitzke will start her 18th year as leader of this club which now has 24 members.

Speaking Program Trains 4-H Youth

Art of Public Oratory Taught Through Training in Project

The 4-H public speaking program shows just how 4-H Club members can achieve the goal of being able to learn the art of oratory.

During the course of carrying on projects, the 4-H'ers make oral reports at club meetings, fit words to actions in giving demonstrations and get the feel of appearing before an audience in showmanship and exhibit events. Boys and girls most likely to succeed as speakers are given special coaching by county extension agents, teachers or qualified local leaders. Some receive tips on radio and TV techniques and appear in home town programs.

The 4-H'ers not only learn to give a talk, but also to write their own speeches. Subjects for the most part are related to 4-H experiences, citizenship and leadership.

An allied activity is community relations. In this 4-H program, club members undertake joint community improvement.

The youth acts as news reporters; give leadership to local civic, safety and health campaigns; plan and participate in recreational and social events.

4-H Project Core Of Work Club Does

The 4-H project has traditionally been the core of club work.

However, young people need to work together as a group, too. Besides, they want to be part of a group. Activity programs in health, safety, conservation, music, drama, and recreation provide a chance for members to learn to plan and work together.

Every club includes several different activities in their program to give members a wide variety of experience.

Kind, Number of Activities Picked Depends on Members

The kind and number of activities a club selects depends on the age of its members, the size of the club and available leadership. The new club usually includes a limited number of activities the first year — perhaps music, recreation and health or safety. As the members gain experience, they may add additional activities in drama, public speaking, conservation and community service.

In Outagamie County a special activity is selected for emphasis each year. In this case, specialized training is provided for leaders responsible for the activity. Program planning guides are provided for all activities by the county extension office.

Fox Cities Area Youths Tour Holstein Farms

CHILTON—Two Calumet County Junior Holstein breeders, Leo Hanke and Delmar Lavey, and Charles Nikolai, county 4-H club agent, participated in a tour of three outstanding Outagamie County Holstein dairy farms conducted by the Fox Valley Holstein Breeders Association.

The youths were selected by the county Holstein group and the

Projects by Club Youths Hit 4 Million

The nearly 4 million projects completed by 2,300,000 4-H Club boys and girls in a single year is further proof that the "learn by doing" system is keeping young minds and hands busy. As a matter of fact, youth specialists say that the hundred or so categories of 4-H projects are the very backbone of the organization which has grown steadily for more than half a century.

During the last three decades the number of girls enrolled in 4-H have topped the boys in just about the same proportion, according to figures supplied by the USDA. There are presently some 300,000 more girls than boys in club work. Ages range from 10 to 21 years.

Originally planned to help farm youngsters, the voluntary educational program now claims nearly half its membership from city and non-farm rural homes. Apparently "pride of accomplishment" is the key factor in the 4-H club program.

club agent. A total of 10 counties were represented at the tour.

Project Exhibition Required for Credit

Every 4-H club member must make a public exhibit of his project if he wants to achieve. The exhibit is usually made at a community or county fair. When project work cannot be taken to a fair, a member may be credited with having made an exhibit of his project work if observed by others during a club tour.

Barish MILKHOUSE MISERY

Milkhouse comfort, convenience and safety can be yours with an Electric Space Heater. It provides protection against frozen pipes and helps keep area dry. Portable units need no installation . . . just plug in.

Some dairymen use infra-red lamps successfully. In either case, the cost is low and my wages amount to only a few pennies a day. Don't wait—get ready for winter now!

Farm Business Topic of Meeting

CHILTON — Calumet County's farm business for the last year will be discussed Nov. 17 when county members of the Northeastern Wisconsin Farm Management Association meet at the courthouse here. Harold Huttenberg, county fieldman, will lead discussions.

A Brillion man, Ed Barth, is president of the 9-county organization and will preside at the local meeting.

The association was organized about 12 years ago by area county agents to help farmers with management problems. More than 50 county farmers are members. Members are given a complete analysis of their farming business and are assisted with income tax problems.

Also on the meeting program will be Orrin Meyer, county agent, who will give a comparison of farm income from various livestock sources.

NEW IDEA SPREADERS

4-Sizes to Choose From

With manure worth $6.50 to $9.00 a ton, as it now is, a herd of 20 cows will produce about $1600 worth of manure in a year if you handle and spread it properly.

Hitch a New Idea spreader to your tractor and it will pay for itself and give you years of profitable soil improvement. Ruggedly built, it will handle big loads easily and efficiently, shredding thoroughly, spreading evenly.

Without stopping, you control the amount spread according to the needs of the soil... thick applications on poor soil, less on more fertile areas.

Hilard Brantmeier, Calumet County 4-H executive committee chairman, presents Reinold Hopfensperger, route 4, Appleton, with a certificate in honor of his 15 years of 4-H leadership in Calumet County. Ten-year leaders looking on are Al Hoerth and Albert Ludwig, right, and Mrs. Elroy Starfeld, left, and Mrs. Hugo Salm.

Club Members Expected to Pick Work Project

Each 4-H member is expected to choose a project or projects to be carried out after consulting his parents and a local club leader. A first year member should choose only one project. He should do the best possible job on it.

Then he will be in a position to know whether he should carry an additional project the following year. Only in very unusual cases should a member carry more than four projects.

Members are expected to complete the project they choose. Literature is supplied that outlines what each member is expected to do for each project.

The club member is expected to attend all local club meetings. Attendance at county and state meeting is a valuable experience, too.

A member is expected to exhibit from each of the projects in which he enrolls. An exhibit can be made at a county fair, a community fair, other public exhibit places and a club tour. The leader may inspect project work personally. A member learns a

Electric Co-op Has 3-County Dinner Fete

ROSHOLT — Town chairmen, county agents, village presidents, representatives from industrial development organizations and employees joined for a dinner meeting here recently. Marathon, Waupaca and Portage Counties were represented.

Central Wisconsin Electric Co-operative, Iola, was host. Speakers were Sherman Weiss, northern area representative for the state's Resource Development Division; Vernon Hendrickson, special agent in charge of experimental resource development project in Price County, and Les Nelson, editor of Wisconsin REA News.

great deal about his project by seeing his exhibit judged along with those of other members. For that reason, exhibiting at a county or local fair is most desirable.

Each member must complete records for the projects in which he is enrolled. A 4-H member who successfully completes these expectations is called an "achievement" member. Recognition is given at county achievement days.

Swine Raising to be Discussed During Calumet County Event

CHILTON — A meeting of Calumet County farmers interested in raising swine has been scheduled for the evening of Nov. 16 at the courthouse here.

Earl Hildebrandt, president of the Calumet County Swine Breeders Association, called the meeting to discuss programs now being offered to purebred and commercial pork producers.

Also included will be an explanation of the proposed boar testing station and a discussion on the advisability of county breeders entering an artificial insemination program in swine. A research study on such a program recently has been completed in the area.

Quack grass in sugar beets and asparagus

It's DOWPON*—the economical grass killer. Instead of chopping or cultivating all season, just apply Dowpon to your fields—in the spring before planting, or in the fall, after harvest—and you'll be rid of tough problem grasses. That's because Dowpon, sprayed on the leaves, kills the whole grass plant, from the tops to the deepest roots—at a rock-bottom cost per acre. Also use selectively in some crops.

DHIA Head Urges Use Of IBM

CHILTON — Prof. E. E. Starkey, state head of the Dairy Herd Improvement program, last week urged Calumet County DHIA directors to convert record tabulation to IBM.

The switch to IBM records would cost member farmers $1 per cow, per year. Disposing of one poor producer discovered by testing more than pays for the cost of testing, he said. Local association rates are well within the state average.

More than 300 county dairymen are actively testing their herds. County DHIA directors are Adelbert Kees, Herbert Schoen, Donald Morgan, Leonard Woelfel and Howard Sattler. Its fieldmen are Gerald Loefel, Eugene Redig and Starret Larrabee.

Family Night Planned By Wolf River 4-H Club

FREMONT — A family night will be staged Monday evening at the school by the Wolf River Wonder Workers 4-H Club with Miss Louise Klusmeyer, county home agent, speaker.

A program for about 20 members will include distribution of pins and county fair awards. Kathryn Sasse received an award for photography and Robert Bartel for poultry.

Norbert Stingle, Left, and Ronald Nelson received the Cities Service Key award for 4-H Achievement in Outagamie County. James Sutliff, firm representative, made the presentation. Other key award winners not present when picture was taken were Janice Schnabl, Sandra Laudon and John Krull.

Project Literature Available for Clubs

The county extension office distributes project literature and record forms for each member and project leader's guides for each leader.

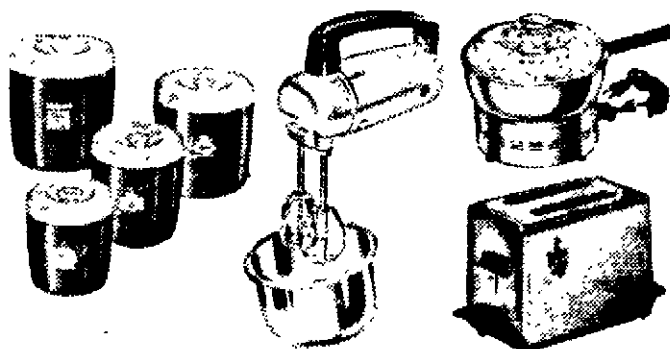

Literature that is supplied includes:

A pamphlet or bulletin for each project. It is written for 4-H members by College of Agriculture specialists working with the state 4-H staff. It gives the latest and best available information on projects.

Member's 4-H record book. It's made to hold the loose-leaf standard record sheets which are supplied each year for each project. Members record and report what they do in their projects on these forms.

Sample Survey Of Agriculture Carried on

Shawano and Outagamie Picked As Random Counties

The 1960 sample survey of agriculture will be conducted in Outagamie and Shawano County during the next several weeks, the Bureau of the Census announced. The sample survey will collect information on ownership and size of farms, acreage and harvest of crops and livestock production and inventories. Information will be collected also on farm equipment, farm income, construction of new farm buildings, farm contracts, and farm operator debts. This survey will supplement information collected in the 1959 census of agriculture.

Farms in the county which will be covered in the 1960 survey were selected at random under the Census Bureau's scientific sampling program to provide a representative cross-section of all farms in the country. Information collected locally will be combined with that collected in other areas of the country to provide national estimates.

Local interviews will be conducted by Mrs. Margaret R. Tetzlaff in the two counties.

4-H Club Program Of Youth Work

Four-H Club work is a practical program of education for young people.

It is the youth program of the Cooperative Extension Service, and it's sponsored by the United States Department of Agriculture, University of Wisconsin, and county in each state. County extension agents carry out the work. They are guided, in turn, by the state 4-H staff.

There are more than two and a quarter million members in all 50 states and Puerto Rico. Wisconsin has about 53,000 members. Although it may be called something else, the plan of 4-H club work has been adopted in many foreign countries.

The program is available to boys and girls aged 10 through 20. It's carried on through clubs guided by community adults. In Wisconsin more than 12,000 adults are volunteer local 4-H club leaders.

Objectives of 4-H

The extension youth program aims to help young people.

- 1 Acquire knowledge, skills, and attitudes for a satisfying home and family life.
- 2 Enjoy a useful work experience, together with the responsibility and satisfaction of personal accomplishment.
- 3 Develop leadership talents and abilities to achieve their citizenship potential.
- 4 Appreciate the values of research and learn scientific methods of meeting and solving problems.
- 5 Recognize the importance of scientific agriculture and home economics and their relationships to our total economy.
- 6 Explore career opportunities and recognize the need for a continuing education.
- 7 Appreciate nature, understand conservation, and make wise use of natural resources.
- 8 Cultivate traits of healthful living, purposeful recreation, and intelligent use of leisure time.
- 9 Strengthen personal standards and philosophy of life based on lasting and satisfying values.
- 10 Gain attitudes, abilities, and understandings for working cooperatively with others.

Leaders of tomorrow . . . these will come from the group of young people who are practicing good citizenship today. Such are the 4-H Club members. They are learning early the best ways to serve community, family and themselves. The knowledge and habits they acquire mean a better America!

Agents Underpaid, Orrin Meyer Says

Calumet County Below Average With Salaries, Has Turnover

CHILTON — Calumet County's extension department salaries urging the 4-H leaders to take an active part and interest in local government.

Orrin Meyer, county agent, strongly hinted speaking at the annual County 4-H leaders banquet at the Evangelical and United Brethren Church hall, Forest Junction.

Meyer said he was the lowest paid county agent in the state based on his tenure of service—16 years—and that his salary was $228 under the state average for county agents. The 4-H club agent's salary is $1,500 under the state average and the home agent's pay, $1,005 below the mean, Meyer commented.

He also deplored the rapid turnover of home and club agents. Calumet county has experienced in recent years, blanning the comparatively low salaries.

Some 130 leaders and guests heard Meyer and applauded the leaders who received award certificates for time they devoted to 4-H club work.

Program Set Up To Meet Neds

The objectives of 4-H Club work guide the program in all states. Each state develops its organization and program to meet the needs of its people.

Four -H club work in Wisconsin is carried out through local 4-H clubs that usually become an important part of the community.

Club work develops largely in the local community with the project work and activities being carried out in the home, on the farm or in the village and city. Club members are expected to do the major part of the work on their projects. However, they receive guidance of parents and leaders.

Any boy or girl who is 10 years old before Jan. 1 of any year may become a 4-H member. They may continue in club work for as many as 11 years, graduating at 21. Once a person joins 4-H, he will be considered a member as long as he continues to select and carry projects and takes part in the program of his local club. Each 4-H club has a year-round program.

Appleton, was the only county leader this year to qualify for the 15-year award. Eight 10 - year awards were presented with Roy Fischer, Mrs. Hilard Brantmeier, Mrs. Marshall Hephner, Mrs. Hugo Salm, Mrs. Elroy Starfeld, Mrs. Norman Karls, Al Hoerth and Albert Ludwig as recipients.

Making the presentations were Hilard Brantmeier, 4-H executive committee chairman, and Charles Nikolai, club agent. Five and 1-year leaders also received awards.

Russell Gasch served as toastmaster and the Rev. Theodore Jordan, pastor of the host church, delivered the invocation and benediction.

Club Names Farm Bureau Delegates

Representing Calumet County's Young People's Farm Bureau at the Farm Bureau convention Nov. 26 and 27, will be Willard Krueger, Raymond Bangert, Lorraine and Rosalie Jochmann, Kathleen Hopfensperger, Ann Mader, Calumet County's Miss Farm Bureau Representative and Jesse Stumpf, the talent find winner.

At the last monthly meeting Willard Krueger was elected president; Raymond Bangert, vice president; Kathleen Hopfensperger, secretary, and Rosalie Jochmann, treasurer.

Nov. 5, Calumet County's Older Rural Youth held a roller skating party at Waverly Beach. Sheboygan and Manitowoc counties attended.

Calumet County's Young People's Club is sponsoring a dance at Kleist Hall, Potter, Nov. 20.

Christmas Party Set For December Club Meeting at Lebanon

NEW LONDON — Plans for a Christmas party to be held Dec. 6 in conjunction with the next meeting were completed by the Lebanon Cedars 4-H Club, according to Mary Crain, reporter.

The club also will have a parent's night program Nov. 27 at the St. Patrick parish hall, Lebanon. A potluck supper will be served.

Committees for the Christmas party, which will include an exchange of gifts, are Jerry Madden and Martin Moeller, lunch; Patsy Heineman and Mary Moeller, entertainment; Pat Heineman, a demonstration, and Patty Rohan and Bonnie Ticks, song.

Order FUEL OIL Now

For the finest money saving, clean, home heating fuel, call the Center Valley Cooperative. Only Midland has the Comfort Assurance Plan featuring both Budget Pay and Keep-Fill services and only Midland has petroleum products that are Midland controlled . . . from the oil well to you.

There Is A Big Difference In Fuel Oils

Midland Infra-Heat fuel oil with Cal-Rod looks like most other fuel oils. However, you can't see the differences in the fuel oil that are the result of refining and blending processes. These are the differences that can cost you money and heating comfort. Many fuel oils contain additives. They, too, are different. Cal-Rod in Midland INFRA-HEAT is a tested and proved additive that overcomes the moisture and sludge problems inherent with heating oils. With ordinary fuel oil in your tank, moisture can cause damaging rust and sludge formation. The opening in your oil burner's nozzle is smaller than the period ending this sentence. That tiny hole must stay open and clean for efficient fuel atomization and combustion.

Pledge Has Influenced Lives of Former 4-H ers

Those Who Have Distinguished Themselves
 In Private Life Honored by Extension Service

The 4-H philosophy—head, heart, hands and health pledged to make the best better—has influenced the lives of men and women who once were 4-H Club members. Their success stories have been documented in reports received by the National 4-H Service Committee in connection with the 4-H Alumni recognition program.

Through the cooperation of the Extension Service of the state land-grant college, former 4-H'ers who have distinguished themselves in various walks of life are singled out for special honors. All give credit to the inspiration, encouragement, knowledge and personal experience gained through 4-H membership.

Each year eight outstanding persons from across the nation are chosen to receive the national 4-H Alumni key award. The 1960 recipients include an editor, teacher, college dean, banker, merchant and three mothers whose children are 4-H'ers. Each has made a significant contribution to his or her community or has achieved distinction in other areas. Without exception, all have continued to work with and for youth.

Since 1953 scores of 4-H "grads" have been personally congratulated at the annual 4-H Alumni recognition banquet held during the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

The state Extension Service may name four men and women who have demonstrated that 4-H has influenced their lives and vocations. An inscribed plaque is presented to each at a special program arranged by the Extension staff. Another group of for-

Climate at Two Heights Often Differs

The climate at your feet can be quite different from that at your head.

The climate two inches above the ground often averages 10 degrees warmer by day and six degrees cooler at night, than the air at six feet up.

There usually is little air movement close to the ground, so the sun's rays keep air there warmer by day, while heaviness of cold air keeps it cooler by night, explains Dr. Erwin R. Biel, Rutgers University meteorologist. Crop growth can be benefitted by controlling this close-to-the-ground climate, but little research yet is being done in this respect, he adds.

Dates Set for Annual Pesticides Conference

Dates have been set for the 15th annual Wisconsin pesticide conference with industry at the University of Wisconsin Jan. 5 and 6.

The annual meeting is held to bring industry up to date on latest information concerning herbicides, fungicides and application equipment for agricultural crops. Problems in use of these chemicals are also aired at the meeting.

mer club members is honored in the county.

At the present time there are some 20 million men and women in the U.S. who have been enrolled in a 4-H Club, according to the cooperative extension service.

Trend Toward Conservation

More Thorough Practices Being Put in, Planner Says

CHILTON — The current trend is toward more thorough conservation practices, Bruno Zucollo, U.S. Soil Conservation Service representative, told Calumet County Supervisors Monday when making his annual report.

Ten years ago, Zucollo said, the average project cost was $100 while the present average is $500. Some of the projects completed during the last summer ranged between $2,500 and $3,000 and one cost almost $4,000.

During the year ending Nov. 1, 1960, the county soil conservation district had 27 new cooperators, the report showed. A total of 21 basic plans were installed and nine plans were revised. Fifty-two farms had follow-up contract, and 160 ACP referrals were processed.

Acres of contour strip cropping totaled 550; 155 acres received woodland protection and improvement; 1.6 miles of water diversions were installed; one mile was terraced, and 4,067 acres were soil surveyed.

Drainage tile installed, if laid

4-H Tractor Training Project Fills Big Need for Farm Mechanics

There is history behind the 4-H clubs. When 4-H clubs were started, mules and horses were the source of power on most farms. In a few years, the number of work animals decreased rapidly.

The farm tractor has become the farmer's most important source of power. World war II shortages of farm machinery and manpower on the farm brought out two important facts.

Tractor Program
First, the nation's farmers wanted to learn more about tractor care in order to preserve their machinery as long as possible. Then, too, without tractor power the modern farm would be at a standstill.

Because of these facts, there was a demand for a program in tractor care.

In 1944, the 4-H tractor program was started. Its slogan was "Better Care, Not Repair." It was started in the winter of 1944 as an experiment in 14 midwest states. The program soon developed on a national scale and today is carried on in every state. In addition, it has been adopted for use in Canada, Hawaii, Alaska and other countries.

A major oil company is sponsoring the 4-H tractor program on a nation-wide basis. This firm provides the funds for leadership training and for county, state and national awards. It also furnishes the literature for the program. It makes available the services of skilled engineers and other employees for state leader training clinics and local club programs.

The Outagamie County 4-H Tractor Maintenance Program was started in 1956. Its purpose is to give boys and girls an opportunity to learn by doing.

Learn Care

They learn that better tractor care results in longer tractor life, more power and lower operating costs. Because they learn how to do many small, but important, tractor maintenance jobs, they get units and they reduce costly breakdowns. But even more important than the tractor care is the 4-H goal of helping them to become sound-thinking citizens. The training that they receive in the 4-H tractor program will be beneficial to them when they take on the actual job of running a farm.

The Outagamie County 4-H tractor program has four parts, or units. The "A" and "B" units are on care of tractors or other power equipment. The "C" unit covers tractor service and cost records. The "D" unit is concerned with adjustment and care of farm machinery.

There is a county 4-H tractor committee in charge of planning, organizing and carrying out the tractor program. It determines the number of meetings to be held, where they will be held, and the subjects to be covered at each meeting. It works in cooperation with local implement dealers who offer their services, tractors and farm machinery and facilities.

In order for any boys or girls to be eligible to enroll in the county 4-H tractor program they must be 14 years or older. They must have access to a tractor or some other type of farm machinery.

In order to achieve recognition, they must carry out the project, keep a record on it, attend and take part in club meetings regularly and make a public exhibit of their project work. The member also has to turn in a completed record on the tractor project at the end of the year together with a story describing club work experience.
